Fools and Proud of It
A Killing Example
The Strongest Republican
A Scapegoat in Khaki
—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1920.

If human beings could be fools without insisting on advertising the fact, those that consider themselves aristocrats might be less unpopular. A Paris princess, in democratic French life as much of a joke as a mother kangaroo with her pouch would be in the life-saving machinery of a modern fire department, buys 500 drops of a new perfume for five dollars a drop. And she tells the newspapers about it.

The nobility of England are wiser. Englishmen are generally wise. They peer deep in the background. Those that head are "Mister" Lloyd George, "Mister" Asquith, "Mister" Churchill, etc. They are promoted sometimes to "Sir," not often, if really big. The biggest of recent years, next to Lloyd George, died, "Mister" Gladstone. Dukes and lords have their own little hot house, the House of Lords. Outside of that they keep quiet.

The State of New York defeated a bill to abolish capital punishment.

Do learned lawmakers not understand that individuals with badly shaped brains will continue to believe in killing as long as the government sets the example?

The unbalanced murderer naturally says to himself, "If government that I am taught to respect kills the man whom it dislikes and fears. Why should not I do it?"

There is not much doubt today as to the strongest, in public estimation, among all the Republican presidential possibilities. Johnson, of California, the stone that was rejected by the trusts of the Republican party, has rapidly become the keystone of the Republican arch.

If the Republicans pull out that keystone the arch will fall on their heads.

Johnson is the kind to go to the Chicago Republican Convention himself, and talk as a delegate. He is no hypocrite pretending to be a modest violet.

What would the delegates say if Johnson said: "Right in this State forty-five thousand Republican voters wrote in my name on the ballot, although the Republican machine left it out. That never happened before. Roosevelt himself once had his name written twelve thousand times. It was called a miracle.

"The voters of this country have already nominated me. You do the same if you don't want to see me elected on an independent ticket."

Johnson's victory in Nebraska, his latest, giving him more votes by thousands than any of them, including the great Nebraskan, William J. Bryan himself, more than Wood and Pershing combined, ought to teach even Republican politicians something.

A member of the cabinet said to this writer last Thursday: "The Republicans will never nominate Johnson. Ten minutes in the cloakroom of the Senate would make that clear to you. Half a minute within ten feet of Senator Penrose would prove it to you."

Republicans that the corporations control don't want Johnson, of course. But even corporation Republicans sometimes have to swallow what they don't like.

The next interesting question is: What will California, at the primary, do for the native-born fighter who has gone conquering through the land? How big a majority will California pile up for the man that represents so admirably California's fighting spirit?

California, apparently, is to have her first President. She will want to give that man a "send off" worthy of California's generosity and loyalty to her own.

Johnson had 45,000 votes "written in" in the voting in Illinois. Hoover got about two hundred. What will Johnson get in California?

The Allies are fixing up a bill for Germany. Sixty billion marks is the amount suggested. The original plan was to find out how much Germany had all together, then let her know how much she must pay. Sixty billion marks, under ordinary conditions, would be fifteen billion dollars, fifteen times as much as Bismarck took from France after 1870. At the present rate of exchange it would be only a little more than one billion.

England, apparently, has decided that the thing to do is to have Europe go back to business, stop counting German marks and begin production.

For remember the scapegoat of old, the animal with the unpleasant job.

All the sins of the people were loaded on his shaggy back, and he was sent galloping off into the wilderness.

The United States government has selected and branded a first-

NEW RAILROAD TIEUP THREATENED

RED RAIDS 'LAWLESS,' SAYS JUDGE ANDERSON

ATTACKS GIRL IN AUTO

Unknown Leaves Unconscious Young Woman on Andover Doorstep

Lawrence, April 22.—Unconscious, and nearly strangled by a scarf bound about her neck, a girl claiming to be Lillian Karolyn, aged eighteen years, of Chestnut street, this city, was found on the doorstep of Carl Frederickson's home, No. 107 North Main street, Andover, today.

Recovering consciousness at the Lawrence General Hospital, the girl refused for several hours to answer questions, and then told a story of a brutal attack in an automobile by an unidentified man.

The police admitted themselves baffled by the mysterious features of the story, certain of which they were inclined to disbelieve after learning that the girl is unknown at the Chestnut street address.

Although extremely weak and suffering from rough handling, the girl denied the story given out by the police to the effect that she had been drugged and almost strangled. She declared that the scarf had been tied about her head as a gag, and that she was not given any drug. She was unable to account for her presence on the Frederickson doorstep.

RODE WITH STRANGER.

The story obtained, after several hours' grilling, was to the effect that the girl had met a strange man who was driving an automobile, presumably on Essex street, this city. She said she accompanied him to a motion picture, and they then went for a ride. At a lonely spot on the road, she declared, he seized her, and attempted to attack her.

In the scuffle, she said, her clothing was torn and the scarf was tied over her mouth to prevent her from screaming. The struggle broke at this point and the girl insisted she could give no further information.

The authorities believe that an attempt was made to murder the girl, and that her assailants, whom they believe she is shielding, then carried her in an automobile to the Frederickson home, a short distance from the residence of William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company. They are confident that she has given a wrong name and address and that she is a resident of Lawrence.

RANG THE DOORBELL.

Mr. Frederickson told the police he was awakened by the violent ringing of his doorbell before daybreak. Going downstairs he peered through a front window and saw a figure on the doorsteps.

He took the unconscious girl into the house and notified Chief Frank Smith of the Andover police department. The chief placed the girl in his automobile and ordered her to the hospital, where she was treated by Dr. Daly and Dr. Scott.

A black and white scarf was tied around her neck, and she wore a purple coat with fur trimmed collar, a black velvet hat, black serge skirt and white blouse. She was described as being about 100 pounds in weight, four feet six inches in height. She has dark brown hair, blue eyes, good teeth and wears a silver signet ring.

The 175-ton engine was going slowly when this occurred, and the driver escaped unhurt. The scene is near Prison Point, Charlestown.

ENJOIN SCIENCE DIRECTORS

Restrained From Interfering With Church Peace Meeting Here On May 3

The Christian Science Church figured in new litigation today when Judge Pierce of the Supreme Court issued a temporary injunction restraining the church directors from interfering with a conference of church members at the Copley-Plaza May 3.

The injunction was sought by Mrs. Daisy Lovering Krauthoff and Edwin A. Krauthoff of No. 76 Winchester street, Brookline. The directors will be given an opportunity Tuesday to show why the injunction should not be made permanent.

The purpose of the conference is to unite the members of the church in a movement to put an end to the litigation which has been waged by the directors and the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society.

The Krauthoffs contemplate bringing one big lawsuit to settle all the questions at issue in the Christian Science Church. They allege that the continuous litigation is endangering the movement, destroying peace and quiet and making uniformity of action impossible.

Scientists from all parts of the country are expected at the Copley-Plaza conference.

$100 Fines Paid by Two More 'Silver' Brokers

Joseph Fynney and Albert H. Cutter, silver brokers, arrested for illegal advertising in the recent State-wide crusade, pleaded nolo in Municipal Court today. They were fined $100 each by Judge Murray.

James J. Benelisha, the only one of the silver brokers whose case has not been disposed of, was expected to follow the example of the others.

The brokers put in no defense.

The technical charge under which they were fined was failure to file with the commissioner of corporations a statement of the financial condition of their concerns.

Assistant Attorneys-General Albert Hurwitz and Edwin H. Abbot, Jr., appeared for the State.

The plea of the brokers was foreshadowed by the action of Thomas W. Lawson, co-defendant in the case, who pleaded guilty on ten counts and was fined $100 on each count.

Louis C. Van Ripor was fined the same sum on the same number of counts. William K. Fitzgerald was fined $100 each on four counts. Others of the brokers convicted were fined similar amounts on each count of the indictments.

Traffic on the inbound track of the Boston & Maine road was tied up and considerable damage done to the roadbed and signalling system when the engine, baggage and express car attached to the 8:30 train from Rockport jumped the track at Tower B, near Prison Point, Charlestown.

The engine was one of the heaviest type used by the road, weighing 175 tons. Although the train was heavily laden with passengers no one was reported injured, as the engineer was proceeding slowly.

Engineer Charles P. Austin of No. 11 Grant avenue, Medford, and Fireman William M. Lowrie of Charlestown, although badly shaken up, were reported as not having sustained any injuries.

BAY STATE TOWNS GAIN IN POPULATION

Washington, April 22.—Preliminary population figures announced today by the census bureau were as follows:

Racine, Wis., 1920 population, 58,593; increase since 1910, 20,591, or 54.2 per cent.

Montague, Mass., 1920 population, 7,675; increase since 1910, 509, or 11.6 per cent.

Great Barrington, Mass., 1920 population 6,816; increase since 1910, 392, or 6.6 per cent.

LYNN LOST 224 BY DEATH IN FEBRUARY

The death rate for one month in Lynn has increased nearly 100 per cent., according to the report of the health commissioner of that city. During February, 1920, 524 persons died from various causes, while in the same month a year ago 131 deaths were recorded.

DROPS DEAD WHILE WAITING FOR TRIAL

William Desmond of Fayette street, Cambridge, dropped dead of heart failure today in a corridor of the Municipal Court, Pemberton square, while waiting for a case to be called in which he was defendant.

Desmond was charged with assault and battery on a policeman. He was arrested a week ago Sunday after Patrolman Charles Taylor of Joy street station had told him to move on from Bowdoin square. Taylor said Desmond struck him and ran. He was captured and, according to testimony, the policeman struck him on the head with a club. Desmond was arraigned and held until today on a continuance. Judge Parmenter dismissed the complaint on being told of Desmond's death.

MILDER POLICY IN IRELAND

Friendlier and More Peaceful Atmosphere Sought by British Leaders

By International News Service.

London, April 22.—Upon the return of Premier Lloyd George from San Remo, Sir Hamar Greenwood, the new chief secretary for Ireland, plans to launch a new Irish policy aimed at securing "a friendlier and more peaceful atmosphere," it was learned from an authoritative source today.

It is doubtful if the passage of the Home Rule bill, now pending in the House of Commons, will be hastened, as the government is awaiting a report from Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, on the general American view on Ireland.

Sir Auckland is understood to have received instructions to analyze the opinion of all American political parties. The government is anxious to learn from the British ambassador at Washington just what the American people believe the Sinn Fein ought to have.

Walter Hume Long, first lord of the admiralty, probably will be one of the chief supporters of the new Irish policy in the government.

It is confidentially expected that the departure from Dublin Castle of Lord French, the Lord Lieutenant, will mark the end of the old policy of ruling Ireland with an iron hand, from that seat of authority.

'TOM' COFFEY AND SON HELD FOR DISTURBANCE

Arraigned for drunkenness and assault on an officer, "Tom" Coffey, chief elevator man at City Hall, sparring partner of the late John L. Sullivan and once a candidate for Congress, appeared in East Boston Court today with his son, Thomas F. Coffey, Jr., twenty-one years old, who was charged with taunting and loitering. Patrolman Harold R. Titus alleged Coffey and son were causing a disturbance in Maverick square, and that when ordered to go home Coffey senior punched him and knocked him down. Titus said he then drew his revolver and escorted father and son to the police station. Both cases were continued a week.

WOMAN CONDEMNED TO DEATH AS SLAYER

Quebec, April 22.—A jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder today against Mrs. Marie Anne Houde Gagnon, charged with the brutal murder of her stepdaughter, Aurore Gagnon. She was immediately sentenced to be hanged on October 1.

A post-mortem examination of the girl's body revealed fifty-four wounds. She had been beaten, burned, forced to walk bare-footed in the snow and then made to drink poison. The defence was built on an insanity plea.

SYMPATHY STRIKE IS HINTED

Boland Warns Railroad Labor Board of Trouble if Workers Are Not Fully Reinstated

Washington, April 22.—A general sympathetic strike of transportation workers in New York and New Jersey, if the strikers are not reinstated with full seniority was predicted today by Frank Boland, head of a committee of New York and New Jersey strikers who came here to appeal to the railroad labor board.

Boland said that a strike would be called in the Long Island power house and the service station at Thirty-first street, New York city. Thirteen New Jersey towns are tied up by a transportation strike, he declared.

Agreement of the strikers to return to work was upset by the refusal of the railroads to reinstate the men, Boland said.

The eight-hour day, instituted while the railroads were under government control, has prolonged the life of switchmen, S. N. Hebertling, head of the Switchmen's Union of North America, told the railroad labor board. He declared the switchmen's occupation was the most hazardous in the railroad industry and that shorter working hours had made it less dangerous.

New Jersey Strikers Vote to Remain Out

By International News Service.

Jersey City, N. J., April 22.—Striking workers on New Jersey railroads, at a meeting here this afternoon, again voted against returning to work until their demand for an adjustment of their grievances is met by the railroad labor board.

The men voted overwhelmingly to remain on strike until they receive assurances that their cases will be taken care of.

Edward McHugh, chairman of the strikers' executive committee, reported that he was unable to obtain any assurances in Washington that the men would be granted any increase.

He advised the strikers to go back to work for thirty days so that in the meantime their demands could be urged upon the railroad labor board. A vote to remain on strike was the answer he received.

CONSERVATORS SUE FOR $75,000 STOCK

Worcester, April 22.—A suit to recover 10,000 shares of stock valued at $75,000 has been instituted by Willis E. Sibley and Dr. A. E. P. Rockwell, conservators for Henry C. Graton of the Graton & Knight Manufacturing Company, against Henry Graton Gould. The conservators alleged the stock was transferred to Gould, a nephew of Graton by marriage, when Graton was of unsound mind.

Caillaux Acquitted of Treason Charge

By International News Service.

Paris, April 22.—Former Premier Joseph Caillaux was today acquitted of high treason against France and of communicating intelligence to the enemy in war time. The vote of the Senators comprising the high court of justice was: For acquittal, 213; against acquittal, 28.

Following the verdict of acquittal on the first two charges the court began deliberating the charge that the ex-Premier had correspondence with the enemy.

MILLIONS FROM TAX DODGERS

Internal Revenue Agents Collect $19,051,000 From 1918 Delinquents.

By International News Service.

Washington, April 22.—The government's hunt of tax dodgers netted a roundup of 70,000 non-resident aliens classed as "delinquents" who were about to return to foreign countries and recovery of $2,000,000 in taxes and penalties from this class, the internal revenue bureau announced today.

Total amounts recovered from delinquents of all classes during the last calendar year reached $19,051,000. There were 295,577 delinquent taxpayers.

"Luxury" taxes which were withheld, but recovered in the search for delinquents, amounted to $7,526,000. Discovery was made that 164,591 individuals and corporations had not filed proper returns for miscellaneous taxes.

A force of 2,261 deputy collectors, organized to detect tax delinquents, found that of a total number of delinquents 131,014 had not filed income tax returns. Taxes and penalties amounting to $7,534,000 were collected from this class.

In verifying returns of persons with incomes of $5,000 and less, it was found 44,361 taxpayers failed to pay the full amount of tax due. Additional taxes aggregating $3,590,000 were secured from such taxpayers.

This report refers to tax collections for the year 1918. The bureau has launched another drive, even more intensive, to find last year's delinquents.

ABANDON OVERALLS FOR HIRED DRESS SUITS

New York, April 22.—A means of beating the high cost of clothing that appears to have been lost sight of in the rush to denim and khaki was revealed today at Columbia University. L. R. Condon, chairman of the junior prom committee, announced that it had abandoned a plan to invite its male guests at the prom at the Ritz-Carlton on April 30 to wear overalls. He said the increased cost of overalls as against the cheapness of hired dress suits had caused the action.

COLBY AND TUMULTY IN LONG CONFERENCE

Washington, April 22.—Secretary of State Colby was at the White House today and held a long conference with Secretary Tumulty. When asked whether the President would send a note on the Turkish and Adriatic questions to the San Remo conference, Secretary Colby replied: "It has not taken form yet."

ATTACKS AGENTS OF U. S.

Federal Judge Scores Raiders at Hearing of Alleged Communists

Federal Judge George W. Anderson, presiding in the deportation hearings of some twenty New England Communists, bitterly arraigned the government today for alleged acts by its agents in the January "Red" raids.

"I cannot sit on the bench as an American citizen without a feeling of shame that some of these things were done," he declared.

"These agents seem to have proceeded on the modern principle, 'Hang first and try afterward.'"

Judge Anderson's statement came when one of the accused "Reds" testified that he was told on Deer Island that he could not have counsel at the hearing to decide whether he should be deported. The judge's attention was drawn later in the proceedings when witnesses testified that arrests were made and men held on the strength of "telegraphic" warrants from Washington.

"UTTERLY LAWLESS."

He said: "Some of these proceedings were utterly lawless. Talk about Americanization work, it is people who can do such things who stand in need of Americanization. Evidently we must forget all we ever learned about Americanism and freedom. I view them with horror."

Ivan Hryanchuk of Boston was testifying when Judge Anderson as-

COALITIONISTS WIN TWO ELECTIONS IN SCOTLAND

Edinburgh, April 22.—J. J. Ford, the Coalition Unionist candidate, has been elected to the House of Commons from North Edinburgh, it was officially announced today. C. D. Murray, also a Coalition-Unionist, was elected from South Edinburgh. The balloting in these two by-elections occurred a fortnight ago. Walter Runciman, Cabinet member in the old Asquith government, made an attempt to "come back" as a Liberal candidate, but was defeated. The Labor party also had a candidate in the field in North Edinburgh in the person of Major D. G. Pole.

BRAVES OPENER OFF; MAY PLAY TOMORROW

Rain caused the postponement of the Braves opening game at Braves Field today. The latter was due to face the Giants, whom already they have twice defeated, and a great turning out of the fans was expected. The opening game will be played tomorrow, weather permitting.

ELEVATED PLANS BIG TERMINAL YARD

That the Boston Elevated intends to construct a terminal yard at the Forest Hills station to obviate much of the delay in the Washington street tunnel was announced by General Manager Edward Dana to the Department of Public Utilities today. Lack of adequate shifting facilities has caused much of the delay, he said. The road wants authority to buy a large tract of land near Hyde Park avenue and Washington streets.

CONDEMNS SCHEME OF LOAN SHARKS TO INCREASE INTEREST RATE

Effort to Get More From Borrowers Is Attacked as "Pernicious" by Expert

Walter S. Hilborn, of the Russell Sage Foundation, today attacked the 5 per cent. loan shark bill before the Massachusetts Legislature as unscientific and pernicious. He declares that recent statistics demonstrate that there is no need for special treatment of loans under $50.

Mr. Hilborn, recognized country-wide as an authority on loan statistics, makes the assertion that the 5 per cent. bill will lead to the splitting of small loans by the sharks so that they may receive the maximum benefit as against the 3 per cent. per month now allowed by law, or at least 3½ per cent. on small loans.

"It has been demonstrated in State after State," says Mr. Hilborn, "under a variety of conditions that a maximum rate of 3½ per cent. per month on all loans is adequate. This is admitted not only by semi-philanthropic loan societies, but by money lenders who are engaged in the business for profit.

BILL WAS AMENDED.

"We had believed that an effort would be made to amend the present Massachusetts law so that it would authorize the 'scientific rate of 2½ per cent. per month on loans under $300. After the bill had reached its second reading in the Senate we learned that the proposed bill had been amended to provide that on loans of $50 or less, for which the borrower gives no security, the supervisor may permit an additional charge for interest and expense not exceeding an amount equalling 5 per cent. per month or 60 per cent. a year on unsecured loans of $50 or less.

CALLED "PERNICIOUS."

"Three and a half per cent. for such loans is the established rate in Maine, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

"The testimony of the sponsor of the bill and the Massachusetts supervisor of small loans indicate that there is no present need of a rate higher than 3½ per cent. a month on small loans.

"A graduated rate is unscientific and pernicious. Experience demonstrates that a graduated rate is dangerous. The result, if established, will be that the great proportion of loans made in Boston and other cities will be in sums of under $50 and will carry the maximum rate. The borrower will be required to make his loan in two offices and will be required to pay 5 per cent. a month on his entire loan.

"Investigation shows that the only person advocating a 5 per cent. rate is the sponsor of the amendment, and the only statistics presented in its support is the experience of one loan-dating company, the Central Loan Society. In seven months that company, according to its figures, loaned $447,000, at an expense of $25,000. Such unsuccessful business is not sufficient authority for any legislation."

Resolutions opposing the enactment of the law and calling upon the governor to veto the bill were adopted today at a meeting of the New England Morris Plan Bankers' Association. Seventeen companies are represented in the society. The sentiment of all at the meeting was strongly opposed to any change in the present law.

FRANCE DENIES GERMAN PLEA

Millerand Strongly Opposes Request for Increase of Army to 200,000

Paris, April 22—The Inter-Allied Supreme Council at San Remo is unable to agree upon a united attitude towards Germany, and the conference probably will break up on Saturday, according to a newspaper despatch from San Remo today.

San Remo, April 22.—Premier Millerand today strongly opposed Germany's request to be allowed to increase her army to 200,000 men when the military features of the German situation were taken up for discussion by the Supreme Council.

The French premier referred to the report of General Masterman, head of the Inter-Allied air commission, in which the allies were urged to bring immediate pressure upon Germany, at once, to compel the government to disarm its military forces.

Premier Millerand takes the stand that while the government may be willing to disarm and carry out the military measures of the treaty it cannot cope with the German militarist clique.

Lloyd George Declares League a "Dream"

San Remo, April 22—What virtually amounts to the death knell of the League of Nations as now constituted was sounded by Premier Lloyd George.

After having hastily summoned the French and Italian premiers Lloyd George delivered an impassioned speech hotly denouncing the present organization of the league as a time-losing machine likely to endanger rather than help the peace of the world.

The British premier's sensational pronouncement was provoked by France's protest against the Supreme Council proposal to grant Germany another three months' delay in evacuating the Ruhr region. Premier Millerand had complained that one of the vital provisions of the league calls for the immediate disarmament of Germany. (Note—The covenant's clause on this point applies to all countries.)

It was then that Premier Lloyd George launched into his peroration, swaying his hearers with extraordinary eloquence. He more than hinted that the league covenant was only inserted into the Versailles treaty out of deference to President Wilson, and now that Wilson is, to all intents and purposes, out of European politics, the time has come to clear the decks of impracticabilities and openly declare the league an impossible failure.

An intensely animated conversation followed, Premier Millerand finally agreeing to the three months' delay to Germany, which probably means early withdrawal of the French from Frankfort.

class goat, the American common soldier.

He was to have a bonus, about $1.25 a day, for giving up his job, risking his life, and working for nothing, while those left at home got the highest pay on record.

But, if you please, the soldier can't have his money because there is in the treasury a deficit of three and one-third billions, and soon it will be four billions.

There was plenty of money for aircraft rascals, plenty for Shipping Board spenders, including the accurately and euphoniously named Hog Island crowd. There were untold billions for the profiteers.

But, it seems, there isn't a dollar for the scapegoat that wore khaki. He will kindly gallop off into the wilderness without his bonus.

But he will return, of course, on November 4, to vote patriotically and enthusiastically.

Set the Clock Ahead Saturday Night

Daylight saving becomes operative in Massachusetts on Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. At the same time all five of Rhode Island's cities and three of its largest towns will adopt the new Summer time.

To avoid confusion, it is recommended that all persons in this State and in the Rhode Island communities set their clocks ahead one hour before going to bed Saturday night. On Sunday the citizens will awake under the new time.

Churches and railways will regulate their clocks or schedules to the new schedule, so that persons who arrange their timepieces before retiring Saturday will not meet with confusion.

Although the Rhode Island legislators have not passed the daylight bill, the cities and towns which have adopted the new time comprise 70 per cent. of the State's population.

CALLS RAIDS ON 'REDS' LAWLESS

Judge Anderson Attacks Agents of Government During Hearing

sailed the government for the acts of its agents. Hryanchuk said that he was taken in a raid on Communist headquarters at No. 885 Washington street the night of January 2, although the warrant for his arrest, which was produced in court, was dated January 17.

Another witness was Robert M. Valkenburgh, a Department of Justice agent. When Judge Anderson criticised some of his testimony, Assistant District-Attorney Goldberg said the man was only obeying his orders. "As an American citizen it would become the duty of any agent to resign rather than obey such orders," said the Judge.

"SHOULD BE EXPOSED."

Judge Anderson made efforts to find out what official ordered the so-called Communists lined up for photographers. He said whoever it was, the man should be exposed.

Penal Commissioner Thomas C. O'Brien and Caretaker George M. Holden testified as to conditions at Deer Island when the "Reds" were taken there. Both denied that the prisoners were improperly housed or fed. Commissioner O'Brien admitted that sanitary conditions were unsatisfactory when the first crowd of prisoners arrived, but insisted that this condition was corrected.

Mr. O'Brien was called to refute the testimony of New England Communists fighting deportation that they were not well treated while under arrest. He admitted that he did not know until the day after the first raid that the radicals caught were to be confined on Deer Island. As soon as he was advised of this fact he instructed Caretaker George Holden to clean up the barracks and make the prisoners comfortable.

Commissioner O'Brien said that immediately following the raids there was a shortage of mattresses and blankets, and that the heating facilities were inadequate. This was corrected, he declared.

He said that the food served was as good as that served in any penal institution in the city, and that conditions in the hospital, where the women were confined, were perfect.

Attorney George F. Roewer, Jr., got permission from Judge Anderson to enter the habeas corpus proceedings in behalf of from fifteen to fifteen more Communists.

The only other witness at the morning session of court was Andrew Musky of Worcester. Musky said he was arrested January 3 without a warrant. He said that while Department of Justice agents did not have a search warrant they searched his rooms for radical literature.

IDENTIFY WOMAN WITH JEWELS

Henrietta Bruce, Arrested for Being Intoxicated, Came Here From Beverly

The mystery of the identity of the young woman arrested on Boylston street early Tuesday morning charged with drunkenness, and who was reported to have had $15,000 worth of diamonds in a candy box in the hotel where she registered, was solved today when it was learned that her name is Henrietta Bruce. The diamonds are valued at $2,500.

The woman has been a resident at the Brewster for more than four months and prior to that time had lived at the Essex and other hotels. The police blotter at the Lagrange street station booked her for drunkenness and in court before Judge Duff, when she pleaded guilty the next day, her attorney, William H. Nolan, Jr., admitted that the name she was arraigned on, Helen F. Grouse, was fictitious.

In court her lawyer stated that she had gone out of her hotel to get the air and had met two men who gave her two drinks of moonshine whiskey. According to hotel attaches, she created a disturbance in the hotel lobby and a policeman was called.

While being placed under arrest Miss Bruch stripped several diamond rings from her fingers and put them in a candy box, asking the night clerk to keep them for her. The diamonds, it is said, are worth in the vicinity of $2,500. The clerk, however, gave the box with the gems to the policeman and they were held at the station for her, along with $146 in cash that she carried until she was released some hours later.

Miss Bruce, it was learned, is an accountant employed by a Boston firm.

Her family lives in Beverly, but for some time past she has been living in this city. She was the plaintiff in an action against a business firm some time ago and was awarded a substantial claim for injuries received when one of the firm's automobile trucks hit her.

JOHNSON'S LEAD IN NEBRASKA INCREASED

Lincoln, Neb., April 22.—With more than one-half of the precincts of this State reporting in Tuesday's State primaries, Senator Hiram W. Johnson has held his lead as the Republican Presidential choice, with Major General Leonard Wood second and General Pershing third. Johnson's plurality for the State is estimated at between 25,000 and 30,000.

PROMINENT OFFICIALS WILL WEAR OVERALLS AT ORIENT HEIGHTS

HOLD BIG MEETING SUNDAY

Bagley, Nichols, Niland and Judge Murley, Speakers, to Be Garbed in Denim

The Orient Heights Overall and Old Clothes Club will hold its first meeting Sunday afternoon, when four prominent residents will deliver addresses, at the Orient Heights Theatre.

The speakers, who will appear in overalls, will be Prison Commissioner Edward C. P. Bagley, Malcolm E. Nichols, chairman of the Boston Transit Commission, Judge Joseph J. Murley of the East Boston Court, and Representative Thomas A. Niland.

Red, white and blue buttons, bearing the initials H. C. L, will be distributed, and this will constitute initiation into the organization, which the public is invited to join. All who attend are urged to wear old clothes or overalls.

The movement was inaugurated when Rev. Louis L. Dunington, pastor of the Orient Heights Methodist Episcopal Church, preached in overalls.

TECH STUDENTS ORGANIZE.

An old clothes club has been formed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. A paper, circulated in the dormitories was signed by almost all the residents, who pledged themselves to confine their wearing apparel to overalls, corduroy trousers or old clothes.

Tech men who only last week graced the ballroom of the Copley-Plaza at the annual junior prom in a full dress suit, may soon be seen parading the Charles esplanade on the Cambridge side arrayed in blue denim.

Dormitory men have taken the lead in the new movement, and they expect to have the 2,000 students at Tech native dress in their strike at the high cost of clothing.

BARRED FROM FIFTH AVENUE.

New York, April 22.—The organizers of New York's big economy parade have been forced to change the line of march.

It had been planned to have thousands of men, women and children march in denim, khaki and old clothes in Fifth avenue on Saturday, but the police, at the request of indignant Fifth Avenue clothing dealers, ruled that street out of the parade.

The marchers will move along Broadway and Eighth avenue.

KHAKI CLUB AT BOAT PLANT.

New London, Ct., April 22.—A club of khaki wearers was formed by 400 employes of the Submarine Boat Corporation here last night. The club includes both men and women. The by-laws provide that a male member who violates the ban on woolen clothing shall be ducked in the river.

NORTH ADAMS FOR OVERALLS.

North Adams, April 23.—With pupils at Drury High School planning to wear overalls and gingham dresses, while Mayor Ezra D. Whitaker strongly endorses the "old clothes" movement, the campaign to bring about a decline in the high cost of clothing is gaining many advocates here.

In endorsing the "old clothes" movement Mayor Whitaker states: "I haven't bought clothing or shoes since the Summer of 1918 and I hope I don't have to until the high prices are lowered. I believe the wearing of old clothes will do much to bring prices down to a proper level."

PLEDGED TO OLD CLOTHES.

Cranford, N. J., April 22.—Fifty officials and citizens, including the Mayor, have signed a pledge, effective during 1920, to wear old clothes as long as they can be made presentable and to limit necessary purchases of new clothing to the following maximum prices: Suit, $50; hat, $5; shoes, $10; shirts, $3 with other clothing in proportion.

STORES REDUCE PRICES.

Brooklyn, April 22.—Announcement was made at the office of the United States Attorney here that Abraham & Straus, largest department store in the Borough, has offered to place stock on sale at reduced prices. The two largest Brooklyn stores are now co-operating with the government in the effort to cause lower prices.

PRINCETON FAVORS PLAN.

Princeton, N. J., April 22.—The Princeton University Council has issued an order permitting freshmen, sophomores and juniors to wear blue denims. Seventy-five students already have discarded fashionable spring models in one and two-button suits for the simpler attire.

PLAINFIELD SUCCUMBS.

Plainfield, N. J., April 22.—Members of the Netherhood Residents' Association, including many well known New York commuters, as well as the pupils of the Plainfield High School, have adopted denim.

POSTMEN TO WEAR DENIM.

Washington, April 22.—Assistant Postmaster-General Koons issued an order instructing all city postmasters to permit letter carriers to wear denim instead of the usual service postal uniforms. It is specified that they must be "laundered at least once a week."

PROTEST DENIM DRIVE.

Sandusky, O., April 22.—Contending that overalls should be confined to the most part of men who can afford better apparel, the Trade and Labor Assembly of Sandusky, in resolutions, requests the public "to conserve denim in the interest of the laboring man." The workers say the price has jumped since jumpers became fashionable from $2.50 to $7 or more.

MANCHESTER, N. H., JOINS.

Manchester, N. H., April 22. — The overalls movement is spreading in Manchester. Pupils of the Chandler primary school reported for school attired in blue denim.

KEENE PUPILS IN DENIM.

Keene, N. H., April 22. — Three pupils of the high school appeared in school attired in overalls.

AUBURN, ME., IN LINE.

Auburn, Me., April 22.—Several employes at the Lunn & Sweet shoe factory appeared in overalls and at once began recruiting for an overall club. Nearly 100 reported in denim today.

CONNECTICUT APPROVES.

Willimantic, Conn., April 22.—Overall and old-clothes clubs are being organized here, at Rockville, Putnam, Norwich and Jewett City.

WILL EXPLAIN INDIA'S DEMAND FOR FREEDOM

Reasons for the demand for self-government by India will be explained to the Twentieth Century Club tonight by D. S. Rao, manager of the Young India party. According to Mr. Rao, voting power is given to only five million people in India, where the population numbers over 315,000,000. More than half of the entire revenue received last year from the Indian empire was used to maintain British troops for police duty in India. He also states that the economic situation under British rule is no better in India than in Ireland at present.

NEW ENGLAND FLORA AND FAUNA TO BE SHOWN

New England flora and fauna will be shown at the annual meeting of the New England Federation of Natural History Societies tomorrow and Saturday in the Rogers Building, No. 491 Boylston street. The exhibition will be free. On Friday evening there will be reports and addresses. The business meeting and election will take place Saturday at 10 a. m.

PORTER AND ANOTHER FINED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Austin S. Watkins, a Pullman car porter, and Frank H. Floyd of Springfield appeared in the United States District Court today before Judge Morton and pleaded guilty of illegally transporting liquor. Watkins was fined $100 and Floyd $25.

ASPIRIN FIRST KNOWN IN 1900

The Bayer Company introduced Aspirin to physicians 18 years ago.

If you want the true, world-famous Aspirin, as prescribed by physicians for over eighteen years, you must ask for "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin."

The "Bayer Cross" is stamped on each tablet and appears on each package for your protection against imitations.

Each package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are safe and proper directions for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain in general.

Handy tin boxes containing 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Advertisement.

$2,000 FIRE LOSS AT ARSENAL

Less Than Gallon of Chemical Puts Out Blaze in 25,000 Gallon Oil Tank.

Considerable excitement was caused at the Watertown Arsenal early today when crude oil, stored in one of the six 25,000-gallon tanks in the heat treatment building, caught fire. The blaze threatened to spread to other parts of the big plant.

The oil burned with such rapidity that fire officials summoned aid from Boston, Waltham and Newton. The burning oil was finally extinguished by chemicals at a loss of less than $2,000.

State Chemist Walter Wedger was summoned when it was realized that the fire might spread. He recommended an acid to be used in fighting the flames. The chemical was sent for and the blaze was extinguished by the spraying of less than a gallon of this material on the oil. The chemical carried by the fire departments had proved inadequate.

PRETTY KLEPTOMANIAC PLACED ON PROBATION

Pleading that she was a hereditary victim of kleptomania, Bertha M. Smith today admitted guilt of two charges of larceny from the person and received probation for one year. She promised Judge Duff that she would never again enter a Boston department store alone. The girl, a pretty brunette, told the judge that her father and mother had both been thieves and that she felt an uncontrollable impulse to steal when she entered a store.

POMERANIAN WORKERS READY TO MOBILIZE

Berlin, April 22.—Baltic troops in Pomerania, the new revolutionary storm centre in Germany, are retaining their arms for distribution among the farm workers and laborers, said a dispatch from Stralsund today. It is reported that Pomeranian farm and factory workers are ready for instant mobilization.

FALL RIVER TAILORS TO ASK INCREASE IN PAY

Fall River, April 22.—The Journeymen Tailors of this city, men and women, have voted to ask an increase of 20 per cent. in wages. They received an increase last Fall after a strike. The proprietors of the local shops will meet in a few days to consider the new request.

FEAR O'BRIEN IS LOST WITH 35

Name Board of American Steamship Found by the Cutter Acushnet

The American steamship William O'Brien, which on Sunday sent out an S. O. S. call, saying that she was sinking rapidly, is now believed to have been lost with thirty-five men in her crew. The coast guard cutter Acushnet, which went to her assistance, reported today by wireless that a name-board of the vessel had been picked up and a quantity of oil had been found.

There is a faint hope that the crew has been picked up.

The O'Brien was an oil-burning vessel, carrying coal between Newport News and Rotterdam. She was in distress Sunday night 500 miles southeast of Boston. A lifeboat was picked up by another vessel in that vicinity yesterday.

GRANDMOTHERS' CLUB TO AID MOUNT HOLYOKE

South Hadley, April 22.—Girls at Mount Holyoke College, whose grandmothers were students there, have formed a Grandmothers' Club to devote its time to assisting in the campaign to raise money for the $3,000,000 endowment fund. The charter members are Florence Cook and Marjorie Cook of Fall River, Christine Hubbard of West Haven, Ct.; Winifred M. Capron, Champaign, Ill.; G. Gertrude Hasbrouck, Port Chester, N. Y., and Mary Ballantine Hume, instructor in history.

WIFE OF HARRY B. ADAMS ASKS SEPARATE SUPPORT

Mrs. Marietta T. Adams of Melrose today filed suit for separate support against Harry Brooks Adams of Cambridge, well known as a business man and sportsman, charging non-support and cruelty, and attaching his property for $12,000. The case startled Cambridge social circles, in which the family is prominent. There are eight children, two of whom are minors. Mrs. Adams asks for the custody of the latter. She has a Summer estate at Washington, N. H.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS WANT HOME 'SMOKES'

New York, April 22.—American soldiers in foreign lands insist upon American cigarettes in preference to the native brand, according to Garry McGarry and Supreme Director William F. Fox of Indianapolis, who have been directing the activities of the Knights of Columbus in the Pacific Ocean and Orient.

Believe Headless Body That of U. S. Officer

Paris, April 22.—In the belief that they are near the solution of a mystery, possibly involving an international spy, the police today speeded up their efforts to identify a headless and legless body found in the Seine near Bougival.

The police hope at the same time to solve the disappearance of Boris Schumaker, who called himself an American war correspondent. There is reason to believe that Schumaker was the murdered man and that his death resulted from international machinations, perhaps originating in Russia.

Hotelkeepers at Joinville de Pont, where Schumaker spent several weeks before he disappeared, were summoned to Paris to attempt to identify the body.

Schumaker arrived at Joinville on February 15. He wore the uniform of an officer of the United States army. He said he was a war correspondent, twenty-seven years old, and that he sometimes used the name of Duncan. He claimed to represent a publication, called The Present.

While he gave his age as twenty-seven he looked to be forty. He spoke little French and spent most of his time in his room. His correspondence was voluminous and he constantly received large batches of Russian newspapers. He disappeared March 2.

Before his departure he said he was going to London and would be back in about a month. He drew 2,500 francs from a bank and vanished.

While at Joinville Schumaker told the proprietor of one hotel that he had served in the army during the war and that he had been wounded on the cheek and in the leg.

The police believe that if the corpse really is that of the missing American the legs were cut off and the body decapitated to prevent identification by means of these scars.

The police believe that there is some connection with the disappearance of Schumaker and his close acquaintance with Russian affairs. In fact, they are convinced that he was in some way connected with events in Russia, but just what this connection was has not been definitely determined.

Pays Surgeon $14,000 for Saving Wife

By International News Service.

Chicago, April 22.—After performing a successful operation on Mrs. Harry C. Moir, wife of a Chicago hotel manager, Dr. Max Thorek was asked by her husband what his fee would be. The operation having lasted fourteen minutes, Dr. Thorek replied that he thought $14, or $1 a minute, would be satisfactory. Mr. Moir immediately wrote a check for $14,000.

"What's that for?" asked the surgeon.

"I'm making it $1,000 a minute," replied Mr. Moir. "You know my wife's life was worth it."

Returns to Find Robber

Rockland, April 22.—The return of Charles Purcell to his store on Union street, after closing, frightened a robber in the storeroom. He escaped.

Girls Thank Mayor for $3 Increase

City Hall telephone operators are speechless with gratitude because Mayor Peters approved salary increases for them amounting to $3 per week.

The girls admit their inability to phrase their thanks in a letter to the Mayor, in which they say:

"The telephone operators of the City Hall annex wish to thank you most graciously for your remembrance in recent salary increases.

"You have done so wonderfully well for us that we cannot express in words our real thoughts. We just wish to say thank you, Mr. Peters, and that implies everything."

The communication is signed by Agnes M. Daly, Helen R. Flynn, Mary A. Delaney, Alice F. Leonard, Augusta M. Crowley, Agnes M. Carey, Alice E. Donovan, Katherine E. McManus, Annie L. Casey and Mary E. Lynn.

SHOTS FIRED IN 'DRUGGED,' SAYS MAN-HUNT MRS. FLANAGAN

Former Detective Caught in Natick Accused of Attacking Wife in Boston

Captured after a chase in which shots were fired by Patrolmen Goldberg and MacCormack, Philip Boudreault, twenty-eight, former private detective and pugilist, of Natick, appeared in the Roxbury Court today, charged with assault on his wife, Helen.

Boudreault is on probation, with a suspended six months' sentence, for failure to support his wife. Warned by the court to keep out of Roxbury, it was testified he had several times called on his wife, who resides on Ruggles street, and molested her in various ways, but eluding the police, on one occasion making his escape from a rear window as officers entered the front door.

Goldberg and MacCormack, tracing him to Natick, secured a warrant for his arrest. While MacCormack concealed himself, Goldberg drew his revolver and commanded Boudreault to raise his hands, but instead he divested himself of coat and hat and fled. Several shots were fired by both officers, until Boudreault, who had taken refuge in shrubery, called out "I'll licked," and gave himself up. It was testified that he had made threats to "get" his wife and himself afterward. His alias, it was stated, had declared an intention of pawning his apparel and purchasing a gun. Pleading not guilty, he was held in $500.

FIRST ANTI-ANARCHY CASE TRIED IN DEDHAM

In the first case to be tried on the charge of advocating anarchy and the overthrow of the present government came before Judge Thayer in Norfolk Court, Dedham, today, when Sergis Kahoon of Norwood was arraigned. Patrolman William Barrett testified that on October last Kahoon, a Russian, was in a Norwood restaurant which he wanted to hire for Bolshevist headquarters. Barrett said Kahoon called the United States government no good, predicted a revolution and advised the policeman to get on the Bolshevist side while he had a chance.

"I Married Mrs. Chapin," Says Man Who Is Held

Says Mrs. Chapin Mixed Headache Powder and Everything 'Turned Pink'

With eyes flashing in anger, Mrs. Mabel Flanagan, on the witness stand in the Suffolk Superior Court today contesting the divorce suit of her husband, declared she was drugged and awakened in an apartment at No. 111 Warren street, Roxbury, to find herself without clothes, with Mrs. Harry Chapin bending over her, telling her the police were attempting to gain entrance in the house.

The recital of Mrs. Flanagan, before Chief Justice Aiken, of the scene in the apartment upon which Dr. Flanagan bases his suit caused a sensation.

"When I reached the apartment of Mrs Chapin," said Mrs. Flanagan, "there was a man named Youngman cooking breakfast. Mrs. Chapin telephoned Philip J. Crossman (named as co-respondent in the case) in my name. We remained in the house during the day drinking. In the evening we went to a hotel and left there in a taxi cab. I went back to the Warren street apartment with Mrs. Chapin and the two men. Mrs. Chapin mixed me a headache powder. After I drank it everything turned pink.

"I knew nothing more until awakened by Mrs. Chapin. I was without clothes. Mrs. Chapin was shaking me. She said: 'What in the world has happened to you?' She said 'I think the police are trying to get in. You lie here under the bed,' and with that I was pushed under the bed.

"The next thing I recall, she was pointing me out to my husband, who put his arms around her and said: 'Ruth, you are a wonderful girl. It took a girl like you to get her.'

"Then he struck and cursed me."

HELD IN $20,000 BAIL PENDING MAN'S RECOVERY

Carlo Spinozzoli of Framingham appeared before Judge Brown in the East Cambridge Court today, charged with assault and carrying a loaded weapon. Frank Castantino who, the police say, was robbed, is in a dangerous condition at the Framingham Hospital. Accordingly, the prosecuting officers asked that bail be set at $20,000, fearing that Castantino might not survive.

PLANT A TREE, URGES MAYOR

Peters in Proclamation Calls on Each Person to Do His Share Arbor Day

Mayor Peters issued a proclamation today calling for a general observance of Arbor Day next Saturday and urging owners of land to plant at least one tree upon their property. The Mayor says:

"I know of no one thing that contributes more to the beauty of a city than ample shade trees on each of its streets as are suitable for them. Too many of Boston's streets are bare and unsightly because of the absence of trees, but if each property owner would take upon himself to plant one tree on his property, it would not be long before our city would be one of the most beautiful in the land.

"The city will adopt a policy of planting a certain number of trees each year, but our funds are not sufficient to enable us to plant a very great number. For that reason I bespeak the co-operation of our citizens."

Records Show Longer Life for Doctors

Physicians in Massachusetts are living longer than formerly, according to statistics given out by the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal. "All the oldest living graduates of Harvard have lately been physicians," says this journal.

Dr. Horatio R. Storer, now the oldest living graduate of Harvard, was born in Boston, February 27, 1830, being ninety years of age.

G. O. P. CAUCUS ON BONUS POSTPONED

Washington, April 22.—The Republican caucus on soldier bonus legislation, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until Friday, April 30, at the request of the Republican members of the House who called the caucus. Chairman Fordney and his associates of the Ways and Means Committee have failed to reach an agreement through compromises on the legislation to be presented. Tentative agreement that the beneficiaries should include enlisted men and officers up to and including the rank of captain was broken by those opposing a bonus to officers.

ARRAIGN HUSBAND FOR THREATENING WIFE

Charged with threatening his nineteen-year-old wife, John St. Angelo, twenty-one years old, a shipping clerk at the North Packing & Provision Company, Somerville, was arraigned in Roxbury court today. He pleaded not guilty and the case was continued.

SUSPECT $40,000 FIRE IN HAVERHILL WAS SET

Haverhill, April 22.—A fire, believed by the police to be of incendiary origin, caused about $40,000 damage to the plant of the Venus Confectionery Company on Winter street today. It was discovered by Patrolman John L. Sullivan, who found a back door of the factory open. Included in the loss was $5,000 worth of sugar. The plant was insured. The proprietor is George Costos. A similar fire, discovered under almost identical circumstances, caused damage to the extent of $25,000 in the plant on February 24. Chief John B. Gordon communicated with Fire Marshal William H. Murray and the two departments have started an investigation.

FARMERS CLAIM THEY LOST ON WHEAT SALES

Washington, April 22.—Farmers of the Middle West lost money on the production and sale of wheat last year, according to figures given out from the Kansas State Board of Agriculture to the Senate Agricultural Committee.

COULDN'T ACCUMULATE $10 IN FOUR YEARS

Returning to East Boston after four years of wandering through the south, John Dooley, fifty-four, of No. 187 Sumner street, East Boston, was arrested by an officer who recognized him. Dooley appeared in the East Boston Court today charged with nonpayment of a $10 fine imposed four years ago for assault. Dooley was released on promise to pay the fine and left for parts unknown. Today he told Judge Barron of his inability during the four years to accumulate $10. An unknown young woman stepped forward and paid the fine.

15 HURT, 2 DYING, IN BUTTE STRIKE BATTLE

Butte, Mont., April 22.—Fifteen men were injured, two of them fatally, in a clash between police and striking miners on Anaconda road, near the Neversweat mine. Operators of mines in this district, which have suspended operations because of a strike, were informed that no formal demands would be presented to them by the union. Published demands include a wage of $7 for a six-hour day.

TENANTS MEET ON MAY 3

Torchlight Parade to Tremont Temple Planned Before Protest on Rents

The action of the Joint Judiciary Committee of the Legislature in appointing a sub-committee, of which Representative Martin Hays is a member, to draft anti-rent profiteering legislation is another victory for the Boston American Tenants' League.

This action indicates plainly that the members of the General Court are awakening to the absolute necessity of remedial legislation at once.

Monday evening, May 3, has been definitely set as the date of the big torchlight parade and mass meeting in Tremont Temple under the auspices of the league.

TENANTS' FRIEND TO SPEAK.

An invitation to address this meeting has been extended to James Gannon, commissioner of finance and revenue of Jersey City, who organized and successfully carried through the movement which ended rent profiteering in his city, and sent the profiteers flying to cover.

Commissioner Gannon handled nearly 10,000 complaints in two months early this year, and was so successful in his methods that practically every landlord agreed to his terms, evictions ceased, rents remained as they were, and only two landlords had the courage to fight him in court. In these two cases the law department of Jersey City fought the cases for the tenants and won.

How he was able to achieve this, which he believes can be done in any city in the country, is the message Commissioner Gannon will bring to the rent payers of Greater Boston, if he accepts the American's invitation.

The wide interest in the big torchlight parade to prove to the members of the Legislature that the public demands relief from the present rent oppression was shown when several residents of Dorchester and Roxbury came in person to the American office and registered the desire of themselves and their neighbors to participate in this big demonstration.

Reading the handwriting on the wall, that the efforts of the Boston American's Tenants' League will be crowned by success in getting remedial legislation passed before the present General Court adjourns, many landlords, who up to this time have remained with the 99 out of every 100 whom General Sherburne claims are fair and honest, are now showing a disposition to slide into the profiteer class, emboldened by the success of the minority gougers.

OWNERS TRY GOUGING.

One large firm which controls much apartment house property in the Back Bay is apparently so fearful of the success of the league and of Representative Hays in securing legislation that it is trying a new method to get in its deadly work before a law can be passed to stop it.

This firm, which up to this time has dealt fairly with the majority of its tenants, has now issued a circular letter announcing an increase in some cases of ten dollars per month per suite, to take effect August 1.

The letter also announces that the tenant must vacate before August 1 unless he or she signs an agreement appended to the letter agreeing to accept the increases before May 18.

It is evidently the object of this firm to use signatures of such letters as one-sided leases, and to try and avoid any laws which may be passed.

The Hoyt bill specifically provides that any increase of rent after passage of the act—which would mean probably after July 31, since the Legislature is expected to adjourn then at the very latest—shall be unlawful, and in order to effect it the landlord would have to file a petition with the Superior Court. Putting into effect any increase without filing such a petition would make the landlord criminally liable under the act.

Inasmuch as the firm in question acts as landlord to several thousand persons, the need of the Hays bill in this case is readily apparent.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE HAS HOOVER CLUB

Faculty and students of Wellesley College have formed a club to support Herbert Hoover's candidacy for President. A campaign for members was launched this week and plans are under way for a mass meeting at the college. President Pendleton of Wellesley presided at the first meeting. Professor Kendall was elected faculty chairman, and Miss Lucia Barbour, of Washington, student chairman. Miss Katherine Gatch of Welford, Ohio, was elected secretary, and Gordon B. Wellman treasurer.

SHUBERT THEATRES TO ADMIT OVERALL WEARERS

Women and girls in "overalls" will be admitted free at the Plymouth Theatre this afternoon. The Shubert theatres announce through their managers that men and women in overalls will be admitted to any performance at any Shubert house provided they buy tickets. The Plymouth matinee is free to girls and women. Men in overalls will have to pay, but the emblem of manual labor will not prevent their being admitted. The overalls should be clean, however.

ELECT LEADERS OF FACULTY LADIES' CLUB

Mrs. John P. Marshall has been elected treasurer of the Faculty Ladies' Club of Boston University. Mrs. Marshall is the wife of Professor Marshall of the music department, recently appointed general staff development expert in music for the United States army. Other newly elected officers of the club are: Mrs. Arthur H. Wilde, president; Mrs. Norton A. Kent, vice-president, and Mrs. William M. Warren, secretary.

TO SPEAK TO GRADUATES OF CITIZENSHIP CLASS

Miss Harriet Vittum, head resident of Northwestern University settlement, Chicago, will be the guest and speaker at the graduation of the citizenship class of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, No. 585 Boylston street, on Saturday at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird and Mrs. Frederick P. Bagley will speak. Miss Mary L. Guyton will present the certificates.

WILSON WANTS TO STAY ON JOB

Ambitious to Work, President May Remain at Capital All Summer

Washington, April 22.—President Wilson desires to remain in the White House.

The President has made rapid strides in physical improvement during the last two weeks, and has shown such an ambition to have full control of the administration that it is now doubtful whether he will leave Washington for the Summer unless the heat becomes too intense.

The President is in better condition than at any time since his illness, it was learned from Dr. Grayson.

The two meetings which the President has held with his cabinet have aroused an enthusiasm for work, and he is now doing more of the details of the chief executive than he has done at any time since his illness.

A disposition to worry over the peace treaty and the international situation which the President showed some weeks ago and which caused his physicians some concern, is not apparent.

MISS REGAN IS BRIDE OF WILLIAM J. SHEA

William J. Shea and Miss Margaret M. Regan of No. 446 East Third street, South Boston, were married today by Rev. George A. Lyons of the Gate of Heaven Church. A nuptial mass was celebrated at 8 a. m. in Sacred Heart Chapel, adjoining the church. John J. Donovan was best man and Miss Eunice M. Slane was bridesmaid. Mr. Shea has recently been living in East Boston.

The wedding was followed by a breakfast at a Boston hotel, after which the couple left for a trip to New York and Washington. They will make their home at No. 10 Aberdeen road, Somerville.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

BELMONT PAYS GAMING DEBT

Son of Banker Settles "I. O. U." For $15,000 at Cost of Nearly $25,000.

New York, April 22.—Raymond Belmont, son of August Belmont, has settled the "I. O. U." for $15,000 which he gave in a Newport gambling house in 1912. He was sued for the amount with interest by Edward W. Rankin. The case would have come to trial within a week.

It was said on behalf of young Belmont in the office of his counsel, Henry A. Uterhart, that he had no recollection of the incident which led him to make the "I. O. U." and had contested the court action on purely legal grounds.

In the first place, he said, if such a debt existed, its collection was barred by the statute of limitations. Also, the debt, if it existed, was a gambling debt and as such uncollectable in law.

Henry Hickman, attorney for Rankin, who, it is said, did not run the gambling house where the "I. O. U." was given, had the document photographed. It was only recently that Belmont saw this photograph. He at once recognized his own signature. Then he instructed his attorney to settle at once. It is understood that almost $25,000 was paid to Rankin.

The direct question was put to Belmont's attorney, "Was the game faro or roulette?" The reply was that no one knew, not even Mr. Belmont. As for Rankin, he came into possession of the "I. O. U." after the death of the owner of the Newport gambling house, it was said.

Ends Life in Hotel

Keene, N. H., April 22.—A. Crown, aged about forty years, a ladder salesman of Bradford, N. H., was found dead in his room at the Colonial House. Medical Referee Dr. O. R. Hubbard pronounced the men a suicide.

REPORT BILL TO RAISE TREES ON 250,000 ACRES

The bill before the House which provides for the purchase and reforestation of 250,000 acres of idle land for State forests has been reported favorably by the Committee on Agriculture. Representative Almond Smith declares that a reforestation of the idle lands of the State will net a profit from its first crop that will wipe out the State debt. "We are bringing in most of our timber from other States," he said. "The high prices of timber is due to a shortage, and unless we begin to grow our own timber we can expect to pay still higher prices."

ARREST TWO LYNN MEN AND SEIZE LIQUORS

George L. Higgins and George L. Goodrich of Green street, Lynn, were arrested following a raid on their residence by Sergeant James MacEachan and three policemen, in which the police found a five-gallon still in operation. The police had received numerous complaints from residents on Green street that a still was in operation and that the odor of the mash disturbed them. The police also found a gallon of alcohol, two quarts of moonshine whiskey and some mash.

SAYS CARRANZA SEEKS TRUCE

Alvarado Learns of Overtures for Compromise With State of Sonora

By International News Service.

Washington, April 22.—President Carranza has opened overtures with officials of the revolting State of Sonora, with a view to a compromise, according to a statement today by General Salvador Alvarado, representative of Sonora here.

General Alvarado declared Ignacio Pesqueira and Roberto Pesqueira, yesterday passed through San Antonio from Mexico City en route to the Sonora border, where they will meet Gustavo Espinosa Mireles, Governor of the State of Coahuila, to attempt to arrange pour parlers with officials of Sonora.

The Carranza government has authorized political concessions for the revolutionists of Sonora, General Alvarado declared he was informed.

Preparations for declaring martial law in Mexico have been made by President Carranza, Alvarado stated. He said he had advices Carranza has asked the permanent committee of the Mexican Congress to suspend the constitutional guarantees before establishing martial law.

Strict censorship of mails and telegraphs has been established and an embargo placed on American newspapers in Mexico, Alvarado declared.

General Alvarado denied that General Benjamin Hill, a revolutionist, had been wounded in battle with Federal troops at Contreras, and declared that Hill, with General Maycotte and 7,000 troops, is at Guirtero.

Wellesley Tree Day Exercises Private

The annual Tree Day exercises at Wellesley College will be held on May 29 on the campus, but for the first time in many years the obstrvance will not be public.

Several hundred college girls, in costumes of the period of Louis the Fourteenth, will take part in the fabliaux and dances. The theme of this year's presentation was written by Miss Alyaonh Kingsbury of Greenwich, Ct.

The leading parts will be taken by Sarah Roame, Louisville; Marriet Doyle, Akron, O.; Esthe Rolfe, Philadelphia; Dorothy Stone, Belmont; Marjorie Mantira, Morris, Ill.; Marion Gaston, Pittsburgh; Edith Carrell, Springfield, Ill., and Ruth Pederson, East Orange, N. J.

HIGHEST D. A. R. HONOR GOES TO MRS. G. M. MINOS

Washington, April 22.—Mrs. George Maynard Minor of Watertord, Ct., today was assured of election as the next president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, balloting for officers began today and Mrs. Minor was she unopposed candidate for the highest office.

MRS. CHARLES H. SMITH TO BE BURIED FRIDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Charles H. Smith, one of the best-known residents of Neponset, will take place at St. Ann's Church tomorrow at 9:30. A solemn high mass of requiem will be sung. Mrs. Smith, who was Mary A. Lacy, was born in South Boston sixty-five years ago. Up to the time of her death, she was an active member of St. Ann's choir. She is survived by her husband, four sons, Charles H., Jr., Thomas H., Arthur P. and Elmer V., and one daughter, Ethel R. Smith.

Thinness Easily Overcome.

(From "Health and Beauty")

Further evidence is being presented almost daily that a recent compound of new chemical elements combined in a tablet with hypophosphites is in reality proving a blessing to the abnormally thin men and women, for it can be demonstrated beyond doubt that a regular course of three or four months' treatment brings an increase in weight of from 10 to 15 pounds, with a decided improvement of health and color, too. For self administration the most popular form in which to obtain these hypo-nuclane tablets obtainable in sealed packages from the best agents every where, with full directions.—Advertisement.

SOUTH BOSTON LEGION POST TO GIVE DANCE

A dancing party will be given Monday evening at the Municipal Building, South Boston, under the auspices of Michael J. Perkins Post, American Legion. John J. Hayes, Jr., is chairman of the committee in charge.

FARM HELP LEAVING TO WORK ON ROADS

Coventry, Ct., April 22.—Contractors for State road work offering $5 per day, and in some places more, have completely stripped the farms of this county of all available help, and many of the farmers are selling their herds and going out of business.

SAVING ON MEAT AT NEWPORT COMPULSORY

Newport, R. I., April 22.—The campaign to save on meat is no longer voluntary. It is compulsory, except for those who say they have money and money are buying what they can get and not what they prefer.

DECIDES AGAINST PROBE OF N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE

Albany, April 22.—The Legislature will not order an investigation of the New York Stock Exchange. Assurance to this effect was given today by Majority Leader J. Henry Walters of the Senate.

IRISH BOND DRIVE SALES LIVENED BY GEDDES' TALK

"Sir Auckland Geddes' statement, that in this generation there is no quarrel between England and Ireland has given an impetus to the Irish bond certificate drive, and the fact that the recent elections in Ireland indicated an overwhelming desire of the Irish people to throw off the British yoke makes his statement perfectly ridiculous," said Patrick J. Moynihan at the drive headquarters.

"Sir Auckland Geddes evidently possesses the necessary qualifications for a British diplomat," said John F. Harrigan of Worcester, State director of the Irish bond drive. "He knows how to be conservative of God's truth."

PAUL REVERE BRANCH RALLY.

At the jubilation meeting of the Paul Revere Branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom to be held in Deacon Hall, No. 1651 Washington street, South End, Sunday afternoon, Sir Auckland Geddes' published interview will be discussed by officials of the State organization.

Brockton's total tabulation of the sale of bonds is close to $30,000, according to Dearmon Sheehan, in charge of the drive in that city. Randolph is forging to the front and will be up with the leaders of its class when the drive ends Sunday. Ladies' Auxiliary No. 7, A. O. H., of Medfield, through Lillian Argue, bought a $25 bond, and it will be credited to Randolph.

All canvassers who have completed the "mopping up process" in various cities and towns are urged to turn in their reports to Miss Mary A. Keohane, Room 20, Ancient House, before Sunday or get in touch with Patrick J. Moynihan before that time so as to make possible a complete tabulation.

STOMACH DISEASE

Mrs. Margaret McGrath, 57 Bennington St., E. Boston, says: "I had been suffering from stomach trouble for more than a year. Everything I ate would turn sour on my stomach and generate gas, which made me weak and miserable. My stomach was so sore I could not bear the weight of my clothes on it. A Mrs. Corbin of Saratoga St., E. Boston, told me how successful the Osmo-Chemic physicians were in treating her for nerve trouble, and I had them treat me. Now my stomach is fine."

The wonderful power of the X-RAY TREATMENT is proved by the fact that they are accomplishing wonderful results in diseases of every description. CATARRH, DEAFNESS, BRONCHITIS, STOMACH DISEASE, NERVOUS DISORDERS, SKIN DISEASE, BIRTH-MARKS, MOLES, FACIAL BLEMISHES, ETC.

No matter what your disease may be, remember that the Osmo-Chemic doctor gives

"It's the Bean"

A Secret Known Only to a Handful of Men

MANY of the most famous things of the world are made from formulas.

Steel is made from formulas. Gunpowder, automobile tires—even bread and those delicious cakes and pies for which New England is justly celebrated.

And the most talked about, most carefully guarded La Touraine formula is the reason for the complete coffee satisfaction that comes to you in every pound bag of La Touraine Coffee.

It is the hidden secret of La Touraine fragrance; its body, its changeless quality, its real coffee-goodness.

Behind this La Touraine formula is the selection of coffee beans from plantations that produce the choicest crops of the coffee world.

These coffee beans are carefully roasted and scientifically blended into La Touraine Coffee-goodness, so that every cup of La Touraine you drink is coffee at perfection.

Demonstrates the Famous Rice Method

FREE

To Callers At His Hotel

Lady Assistant in Attendance

If you are ruptured, your big opportunity has now arrived. If you would like to be free from the slavery of gouging, pinching, chafing trusses that make life a burden, then here and now is the time to act.

Dr. E. G. Branch, an expert in rupture cases, trained under the personal direction of W. S. Rice of Adams, New York, the famous discoverer of the Rice Non-Surgical Rupture Method, will be at the Adams House, Washington and Mason Streets, Boston, Mass., April 24, and will remain until Friday, April 30. A lady assistant accompanies him to attend upon lady callers.

Dr. Branch is here to personally demonstrate to all ruptured people what the Rice Rupture Method can accomplish. You have, no doubt, heard and read much about this famous method and the cures which thousands have reported from it. Now you have the chance to find out all about it—to have it demonstrated to you and to see what it can do in your case. Just call at the hotel and Dr. Branch will give you his personal attention, his best advice and complete demonstration absolutely without charge.

Are you tired of that binding, hampering, uncomfortable truss? Would you like to be free of it forever? Then investigate this Rice Method and find out the possibilities it holds out. Surely a method that could cause so many thousands of former rupture sufferers to report cures must be worthy of your full and complete investigation.

The Rice Method is different from anything else. It is modern, up-to-the-minute, abreast of the latest scientific developments. It is the one method that you are not asked to take on the faith alone—the one method that is positively demonstrated to you, right on your own person, without any charge whatever. You do not spend a penny unless, after having a full and complete demonstration, you decide that this is the method for you. And you—you alone—are the sole judge of that.

In justice to yourself, come in and see Dr. Branch. Come in DOW—today. Remember, he will be here only a few days, then your opportunity will be gone. Grasp it now. It may prove to be the wisest thing you ever did and, anyway, it costs you nothing to find out.

Remember, come to the Adams House any day from 9 to 12 forenoons, 2 to 5 afternoons, or 7 to 9 in the evening. The dates are April 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30.

Don't let this opportunity get away from you.

Don't Use Curling Iron! Here's a Better Method

Thousands of ruined heads of hair bear striking testimony to the injurious effects of the heated curling iron. The continued use of such instrument invariably means dull, dry, shriveled hair, with split, broken, uneven ends.

If more women only knew it, the hair can be kept beautifully wavy, soft and fluffy—without any harmful result whatever—by the occasional use of plain liquid silmerine. A small quantity is applied before doing up the hair, using a clean toothbrush for the purpose, drawing this down the full length of the hair. The curly effect lasts quite a considerable time. It is so natural looking, and the texture and lustre of the hair are so improved, that the woman who adopts this simple method will never go back to the atrocious waving iron. A few ounces of liquid silmerine from the druggist will last for months. The liquid is agreeable to use, and it leaves no gummy, greasy or odorous trace.—Advertisement.

A New, Harmless Way to Banish Hairy Growths

(Beauty Topics)

By following this suggestion any woman can, in the privacy of her own home, remove every trace of hair or fuzz from her face. With powdered delatone and water mix enough paste to cover the hair wanted hairs; apply and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off and wash the skin. This method is unfailing, harmless and quick in results, but care should be employed to get the genuine delatone.—Advertisement.

BISHOP PLEADS FOR MILLION

Lawrence Urges Episcopal Theological School Start Endowment Drive

"The Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge has got to come out into the open for an endowment of a million dollars," said Bishop William Lawrence at the quarterly dinner of the Episcopalian Club of Massachusetts in the Somerset Hotel. His statement was applauded by the 850 men and women in attendance. It was the first time that women were present at a dinner of the organization. Bishop Lawrence's statement is considered the forerunner of a campaign for such an endowment.

CITES HARVARD DRIVE.

The other speakers at the dinner were the Rev. Henry B. Washburn, dean of the Cambridge institution, and the Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, Bishop of Tennessee, president of the council of the Protestant Episcopal Church and chancellor of the University of the South. Attorney Stoughton Bell, president of the club, introduced the speakers.

In making the announcement that the Cambridge Theological School should make a drive for a million dollar endowment, Bishop Lawrence cited the case of Harvard University, "which has set a standard of salary for professors, beginning at $4,000 and ending at $8,000." He said that the salary of the average professor at the Theological School is only $2,500, although he has the same standard of living as Harvard professors.

TRGES MORE MINISTERS.

In addition, Bishop Lawrence made a plea for more young men in the ministry. "Aren't we ashamed of ourselves," he said, "when we realize that although we have 200 parishes in our diocese, with 60,000 communicants, there are but four young men from them headed for the ministry? Can't we do something to head young men for the ministry? I'd rather have a strong, positive, high-minded young man full of Heredoty enter the ministry than an anemic young man who is exacting."

Bishop Gailor praised the "devotedness, gentleness and loveliness of the wives of the clergy of the church" and told of the struggles of the Tennessee College from its small beginning in Civil War days.

Community singing, under direction of Stetson Humphrey was a feature of the program.

COMMUNITY DIRECTORS NAMED FOR CAMPAIGN

Community directors in the financial campaign of the Interchurch World Movement, which will be conducted next week, were announced today. The drive is for $336,777,372, of which New England's quota is $18,145,000, and that of Boston, $11,302,000. The local directors are:

West Roxbury district, George W. Flynn; Roslindale, John H. Gillis; Jamaica Plain, Walter H. Black; Allston-Brighton, Edward E. Dunbar; Roxbury Crossing, Thomas Wood; Dudley street, C. C. Estabrook; Humboldt avenue, D. J. Ferguson; colored section, John H. Burrell; Hyde Park, Charles L. Hunting; Mattapan, Rev. K. Crossland; Lower Mills, F. Howes; Codman square, Rev. Otis Floyd, Jr.; Dorchester, T. Woodbury; Fields Corner, Rev. Thurston Hall; Savin Hill, Rev. Dr. Bigger; South Boston, M. J. Smith; East Boston, Charlestown, Rev. Dr. Shields; Back Bay, R. J. Short; West End, John P. Martin; Charlestown, Arthur Langill; East Boston, A. Van Norden; Winthrop, William C. Jones; Revere, Alton E. Briggs; Revere; Horace W. Aitken.

SAYS LABOR IS LED ASTRAY

Agitators Work as Others Sleep, Sherman Rogers Tells Cotton Convention

"While the great army of agitators has been working industriously twenty-four hours a day, the Americans who believe in the Constitution have been asleep at the switch," said Sherman Rogers of New York today at the annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers at Copley-Plaza. Five hundred of the leading cotton men of the country attended.

Continuing Mr. Sherman said: "While the workingmen has been receiving a first-class revolutionary education, real American teachers have remained dumb as oysters; so the inevitable consequence has been that a great mass of honest workingmen are filled with bitter resentment toward their government in general and capitalism in particular, because they have gotten an entirely wrong education regarding government and capital.

"We are going to be confronted with industrial unrest, suspicion and class hatred just as long as we are too supine to take a little of our time and give it to the workingmen of the country. The greatest crying need of this country today is industrial education, not only among workingmen, but among every element of society. The great trouble in industry now is the lack of confidence that workers hold toward the management.

"We face a big problem; it must be met in red-blooded, two-fisted fashion."

H. M. Cottrell of Little Rock, Ark., told the manufacturers that millions of dollars worth of cotton are destroyed unnecessarily by railroads every year.

Liquors Forbidden to Congressmen

Washington, April 22.—Can a "dry" Congressman carry "wet goods" aboard a government transport?

Emphatically no, said the Internal Revenue Bureau today.

The secret is out. About 160 Congressmen soon are to have a merry junket to the faraway Philippines via the Panama Canal. The party includes a number of "dry" law framers. Some of the "drys" as well as the "wets" thought a good way to combat seasickness would be to store away some of the cellar stocks in their steamer trunks. But the legal division of prohibition enforcement headquarters, in reply to a few polite queries from Capitol Hill, put a crimp in these plans.

MANY IRISH TO EMIGRATE

British Reported Ready to Lift Ban; Large Numbers Coming to U. S.

By International News Service.

Dublin, April 22.—Following reports that the British government is preparing to withdraw its emigration restrictions, it was learned today that large numbers of young Irishmen and women have planned to sail for the United States.

Emigration from the North of Ireland is expected to be heavier than from the South. It is likely that the next few months will see a great many Irish emigrants going to America.

London, April 22.—Six "hunger-striking" Sinn Feiners in the Mountjoy jail were removed to a hospital today, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Dublin.

Queenstown, April 22.—Three British destroyers loaded with Sinn Fein prisoners sailed from this port today. Their destination was not revealed, but it was believed that they were going either to England or the North of Ireland.

$10,000 TO KILL VICE RAIDERS

Mayor of Bridgeport and Chief of Detectives "Marked" by Gunmen, Is Report

Bridgeport, Ct., April 22—A price of $5,000 has been placed on the head of Mayor Clifford B. Wilson and also on the head of Chief Allen O. Myers of a detective agency by members of the alleged "vice ring" against whom raids were directed which resulted in the arrest of 200 persons last Saturday night, according to a statement by Myers, made public today.

Myers declared that six gunmen from Philadelphia were in the city and that two of them have already been located, while steps are underway to locate the other four.

Meantime, Mayor Wilson, who is said to have been warned over the telephone of the threatened attempt on his life, is being guarded by police.

The news of the departure of the gunmen from the Quaker City reached Chief Myers in a tip from that city, he says. The object of the gunmen, he declares, was to kill both Mayor Wilson and himself, both being "marked" by the leaders of the vice ring.

Myers expressed the belief that some of his men here would be "knocked off" before the "clean-up" campaign is ended.

14 Truck Drivers Set Free With Warning

Convicted of violating the State law which requires the use of mirrors on all automobile trucks, the cases of fourteen drivers were placed on file by Judge Johnson in the Woburn District Court today.

Four other truck drivers were fined $10 each for failing to have licenses and registration cards, all having been brought into court by Chief William B. McIntosh of the Winchester police.

In filing the fourteen cases Judge Johnson said he took this action as they were the first cases of the kind to be heard in his court. In the future, he said, violations of the law would be punished.

CENTRALIZE AUTHORITY IN FIRE DEPARTMENT

There will be no changes in the personnel of the fire department as the result of the reorganization plan, Fire Commissioner John R. Murphy said today. He declared the plan aimed at doing away with inefficient methods and centralized responsibility which has been jointly shared under the old plan. The uniformed force is not affected.

LAMSON & HUBBARD CO. OPENS NEW STORE

The Lamson & Hubbard Company has opened its new store at Boylston and Arlington streets. Extensive remodelling of the building was completed preparatory to moving from the former location at Kingston and Bedford streets, where the company had been doing busines for more than forty years. The interior decoration of the new store is of a quiet rich tone which lends charm to the place. Massachusetts in November, 1914, with a capitalization of $50,000. The directors at that time, according to the certificate filed with the Secretary of State, were Carl E. Carlson of Quincy, president; Frederick E. Nickels of Newton, treasurer, and P. Hugh McNeil of Boston, clerk.

NICKELS' WIFE USED AS DUPE

Former Voting Machine Head Charges She Was Victim of Plot to Remove Him

Frederick E. Nickels, former general manager of the American Voting Machine Company, who, it is alleged, failed to turn over $300,000 said to have been received by him as forfeits from subscribers who failed to pay for their stock in full, declares that he is the victim of a plot through which he was ousted from the company and in which his wife was used as an unwilling tool.

Arthur Frantzen, vice-president of the company, charges Nickels with holding out the funds, in an affidavit filed in connection with the company's petition of voluntary bankruptcy. The case will be heard in the Federal Court Friday.

According to Nickel's story, Frantzen and Samuel Simonds, both of New York, secured the certificates belonging to Mrs. Nickels under a threat of placing Nickels in jail unless she consented. Her stock, Nickels said gave them a controlling interest and subsequently he was voted out of office.

Mrs. Nickels did not inform her husband what she had done for several weeks, according to the former manager, and that when she did a quarrel between the two ensued, which finally led to their separation. Now, it is said, Mrs. Nickels is ready to testify in court on behalf of her husband.

TO CURTAIL USE OF NEWSPRINT

Publishers' Association Agrees to Limit 1920 Consumption to 1919 Standard

New York, April 22.—Newspaper publishers affiliated with the American Newspaper Publishers' Association took cognizance of the alarming shortage of newsprint today by unanimously adopting a resolution pledging the members not to use any more newsprint in 1920 than they used in 1919.

Under the terms of this resolution it is practically assured that the size of newspapers generally will remain stationary or become smaller in 1920.

Other resolutions bearing on the newsprint situation were adopted. Among them were:

1—An endorsement of the Poindexter bill extending wood pulp land and rebuilding forest lands.

2—Urging the Federal government to decrease waste of paper in government departments.

3—An endorsement of the Underwood resolution removing the embargo on wood pulp from Canada.

A resolution urging the utilization of all the water power resources of the nation was unanimously adopted as was a resolution opposing the "syndicalist" tactics of many employers and employes conniving to raise the prices of their products.

Women say La-may stays on better than any other face powder.

Up to the present time it has been almost impossible to get a face powder to stay on longer than it takes to put it on. You powder your nose nicely, and the first gust of wind or the first puff of your handkerchief and away goes the powder, leaving your nose shiny and conspicuous, probably just when you would give anything to appear at your best. A specialist has perfected a pure powder that really stays on; that stays on until you wash it off. It does not contain white lead or starchy rice powder to make it stay on. This improved formula contains a medicinal powder doctors prescribe to improve the complexion. In fact, this powder helps to prevent and reduce enlarged pores and irritations. It is also astringent, discouraging flabbiness, crow's feet and wrinkles. This unusual powder is called La-may (French, Poudre L'Ame). Because La-may is so pure and because it stays on so well it is already used by over a million American women. All dealers carry the large sixty-cent box, and many dealers also carry the generous thirty-cent size. When you use this harmless powder and see how beautifully it improves your complexion you will understand why La-may so quickly became the most popular beauty powder sold in New York. There is also a wonderful La-may Talcum that sells for only twenty-five cents. Herbert Boystone, 16 East 18th St., New York.

Leopold Morse Co.

If It's at Morse's It's Correct If It's Correct It's at Morse's

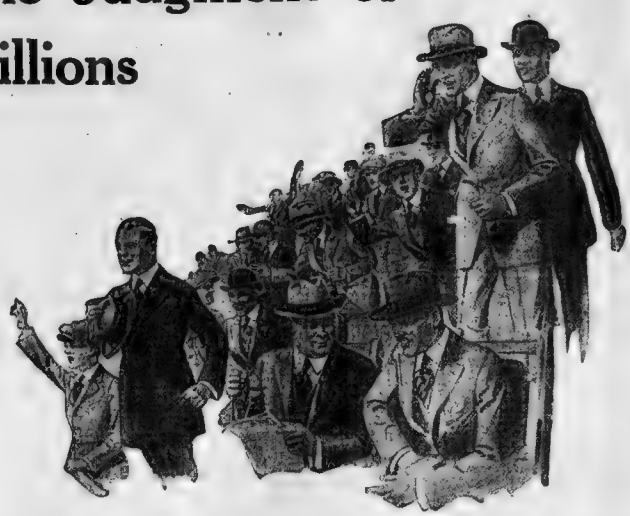
The Judgment of Millions



That is the hard, knockout blow behind the MORSE argument, for since 1852, four million men have worn MORSE-MADE CLOTHES.

The issue, as to whether your next suit of clothes must be MORSE-MADE, is so clear and well defined as to be unmistakable.

Every garment is tailored in our own MORSE shops. A thousand skilled workers, happy and contented, in twelve modern, daylight shops are busily engaged tailoring MORSE-MADE CLOTHES. This, together with the fact that every garment bears the union label of the United Garment Workers of America (A. F. of L.) bespeaks for the conditions under which they produce only the best.

This sound Morse policy does away with shipping woolens from Eastern Mills to Western manufacturers, and having them returned as a finished product, for which expense you must pay.

It also does away with that enormous profit which the retailer must pay the manufacturer for the privilege of having the retail agency for his merchandise.

Purchasing clothes the Morse way gives you the advantage of buying with every possible high cost eliminated.

The "maker to wearer" idea reigns supreme in this Morse business, and thousands of men every season are coming more and more to realize the tremendous strength of the plan. They see the light, the deep down bed rock on which this enormous business has today achieved the greatest reputation of any clothing concern in New England.

If we have accomplished what we set out to do, you who wear not MORSE-MADE CLOTHES, will see the problem of clothes buying in a new light. And you will come in to see us tomorrow.

Once you do, the comparison of values will speedily convince you that the proof of MORSE-MADE CLOTHES is in the wearing.

HOOVER'S FATE SOON DECIDED

Results in California May 4 Expected to End Presidential Aspirations

Washington, April 22.—Herbert Hoover is a goner, but surely being driven off the political map. Such is the lesson of the last few weeks as read by experts in both the big parties.

Tuesday, May 4, in California they predict will tell the tale. Either the obviously waning enthusiasm for the former food administrator will be revived by a victory in the primaries over Senator Hiram Johnson, or the end of the Hoover chapter has come for this campaign, at least.

In California are but two candidates, Johnson and Hoover. Both are native sons.

Senator Johnson will not make a speech out there, nor will he send any of his lieutenants to stump the State for him. Hoover has no intention of touring the State and, like Johnson, will send no spellbinders to the scene of action. If there is to be a campaign at all it will be undertaken by volunteer speakers.

Johnsonites here are confident they have the situation in hand. They point out that in Minnesota Hoover ran fourth in Michigan a poor third and in Illinois, where Johnson had 70,000 votes, according to the latest figures, Hoover got 530. It is true, they say, that Hoover's name was not on the ballot and it had to be written in, but the same thing was true of Johnson.

A non-partisan poll of California editors taken just before Hoover entered the contest showed Hoover had considerable strength in the State, but mostly among those who believed him to be a Democrat. Among twenty-three editors he was the first choice of fourteen. Johnson polled twenty-three votes on first choice out of a total of twenty-nine editors.

2-Pant Suits for Boys

of 8 to 18 years

Here's value so unusual that it deserves special mention. These suits are of all wool tweeds. There's a wide variety of patterns. There's a choice of two models—full norfolk or patch pocket. They are lined with two-tone alpaca. They are most remarkably well tailored, tacked, stayed and reinforced—nothing to pucker, curl up or pull out. And the price—with two pairs of pants, remember—is only.....

$19.50

This is less than you'd have to pay anywhere else for such a suit with only one pair of pants. We've only a few hundred of these suits on hand at present, but hope to have some more by the time these are gone.

ACTRESS LAUDS STOCK WORK

Frances Underwood, "Man-Trap" in "Civilian Clothes," Had Wide Training

By FRED J. McISAAC.

Did you ever see a man-trap?

Frances Underwood in "Civilian Clothes" is just that little thing. As the widow who flirts with the butler and captures the millionaire, Miss Underwood is performing a rather unusual variety of "vamp," and her very neat work in an almost impossible sort of role is one of the features of the attraction.

To me it was especially interesting because the last time Miss Underwood was here she was playing the noble wife in "The Unashamed Woman," whose husband was lured away by the Emily Stevens variety of vampire.

HAD THOROUGH TRAINING.

In these days of "types" a girl who can play two such opposite roles is entitled to write actress after her name with more truth than most who use that a most obnoxious term.

"I have had a very long training in my business," said Miss Underwood. "If I have any special technique I acquired it by hard labor. It frequently happens that a girl with a pleasing personality is engaged and provided with a play which suits her and catches the public fancy. Then she is doomed to leave off her personality for the rest of her career and she hasn't the training behind her to make the public take her in any other sort of role.

"The Neal Stock Company in Los Angeles gave me my first chance. Julia Dean was leading woman in that troupe when I was first interested in the stage and the Neals, husband and wife were first-class actors of the old school.

WOULD WEAR OVERALLS.

"I spent five years in them and finally became leading woman and those five years taught me all I know about acting. I know there are many stock companies in which the directors are poor actors themselves and the training such companies give does more harm than good, but the Neals knew their business. I have played every sort of role from ingenue to tragedienne.

"But why talk about myself? What do you think of the general movement?"

"I'm willing to wear 'em," [illegible]

"So am I," said Miss Underwood. "Do you think the public would let actresses wear them instead of evening gowns? It would be a great saving."

TRAIN YOUR HAIR AS AN ACTRESS DOES

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and no class could be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Jaquays develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any make-shift hair cleaner. The imperative that to have the best hair you must use a shampoo stimulator at a cost of about three cents, one need only get a package of canthrox from some druggist, dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use the most ornery rapidly, with unlimited color, dandruff, excess oil and dirt are quickly dissolved and entirely dissipated when you rinse the hair. After this your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is, so luster and so fluffy you can do almost anything with it. While the shampoo stimulator gives the utmost in beauty to the hair, it is also the most economical, as one application is sufficient for a shampoo. Advertisement.

Is Man Happier Without Woman?

Would Victor Stowell have been happier had he never met Bessie Collister?—Why did Prince Michael Fedor of Monte Carlo organize among his friends "The Enemies of Women," a community from which women were strictly excluded? Are men really happier without women? The two great novels of 1920—"The Master of Man," by Hall Caine and "The Enemies of Women," by Blasco Ibanez—deal with this question. Both these great novels have just started in Hearst's.

Has Nature a Brain?

Does thought die when life leaves our physical brain? Scientists say there can be no thought without a living brain. Yet, argues Maurice Maeterlinck, before the appearance of man, Nature was far more intelligent than we are. In the world of plants and fishes and insects, she had already achieved the most marvelous inventions. Nature to conceive ideas does not need the brain of man. In fact our own brains themselves are but the evidence of pre-existent thought.

French Senator Sees Parallel of British-German Fight for Supremacy

By HENRY BERENGER

(French Senator.)

Paris, April 22.—As a result of the war it is the danger England and Germany were struggling for world supremacy on the seas and in commerce, but America and Japan. This is the important fact facing Europe today.

Everywhere upon the seven seas American and Japanese ships, laden with merchandise, are engaged in a race for trade. While the nine nations contributed to the extraordinary results between Britain and Germany before the war.

American and Japanese banks are being established throughout the world, replacing European financial institutions which for more than a century have held universal sway.

The question arises: Are the European democracies ready to face the terrific economic crisis imposed by the transcendency of America and Japan?

The Adventure of Dealing With Us—

WE want our relations with our customers to be more than a mere furniture selling and buying arrangement. We like people to come in, and let us share with them the adventure feelings they have when they fit up their new home. When they tell us what they want to accomplish with the money at their disposal, we enjoy entering whole-heartedly into helping them to get furniture and furnishings that will please them because of the fun they had dealing with us.

You will find our salesmen anxious to give you the benefit of their experience in selecting the articles you should have in your home.

In addition to making a shopping visit to our store an enjoyable adventure, we guarantee you lower prices than any furniture store in Boston. We also add to your pleasure by offering you the advantages of our unusual credit system, which gives you a year's time in which to complete your payment. Of course we do not charge you interest or make any extra costs whatever.

Our big job is to treat you so well from start to finish that you will deal with us year after year. We believe, with Sheldon: "The science of business is the science of service. He profits most who serves best."

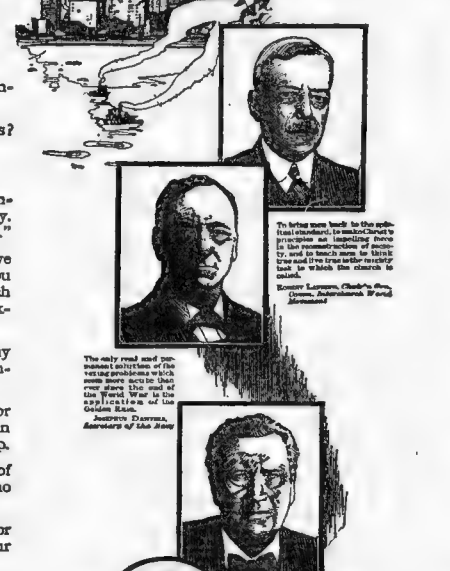
FAITH



Good Old Fashioned Faith —That's What The World Needs Most

WHAT is the cure for the world's present troubles—for unrest and envy and covetousness and fear?

Legislation? Industrial compromises? Political readjustments? We've tried them all, and they do not satisfy.

We're hungry and thirsty for Faith.

"The world needs a genuine religious revival," cabled the London financial editor of the New York Evening Post recently. And he added: "This is the view of hard-headed business men."

What business men are now proclaiming the churches have always proclaimed. You must touch the spirits of men if you are to change their lives: only to the extent of their faith in each other can they work together. All remedies are makeshifts except the Golden Rule.

Thirty denominations, knowing the need to be too great for any one denomination to meet alone, are cooperating in a nation-wide campaign.

It is a campaign for deepening the spiritual forces of men; for enlisting their hearts, and their pocket-books too. And every man and woman who loves America will be glad of a chance to help.

For the hope of America is Democracy and the Founder of Democracy was the Founder of the Church. It was He who first called men sons of God, and so made all men brothers.

Not as employers and employees, not as members of parties or sects, but as sons of God and brothers all let us work out our problems together.

To strengthen the Church is our first great task; out of the Church flows Faith.

STAR GOLFERS MAY SHOW IN BIG FEATURE MATCH AT BELMONT CLUB

FAREWELL TOUR FOR HAGEN

Ouimet, McLeod and Guilford Also Named for Exhibition Play

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

Boston golfers will probably have an opportunity to see Walter Hagen in action shortly before he sails for England May 15 to prepare for the British open championship. A number of members of the Belmont Spring Country Club are eager to have Hagen and Fred McLeod, the North and South open golfer, play an exhibition match against Francis Ouimet and Jesse Guilford.

Such an exhibition would draw golfers from all over New England. Rhode Island has as much to be the last opportunity Hagen before he departs for England, and the American golfing public is much interested in the trip. BRAVES AND GIANTS OPENING GAME OF HOME SERIES PUT OVER

STALLINGS CONFIDENT TEAM WILL HIT STRIDE AGAIN

Old Jupe Pluvius plays no favorites. He gummed the Red Sox opening date, forcing that outfit to postpone pastiming for twenty-four hours beyond the scheduled time, and today, with the Braves due to perform for the first time this season in this city, Jupe climbed right on the job again and splashed the wigwam diamond with a layer of rich, chocolate mud.

As the result the Braves-Giant collision for today has been put over until tomorrow, with Eddie Eayrs fretfully waiting to score another twirling victory.

The team, as has been noted several dozen times heretofore, is far and away better than the Braves of the last few campaigns, and bids fair to battle the Red Sox in the popular city league. Despite three defeats over in Brooklyn, the confidence and courage that marked the opening surge against the Giants, is strongly present, and the broad Alston shoulders will carry plenty of fighting baseball.

Those Brooklyn disasters, according to the athletes who got in last evening after a postponement in Flatbush, were just matters of luck, and the luck went the way of the enemy. In one pastime the Rabbit made three errors and lost the game. That's about as foreign to him as Sanskrit. He has been playing glorious baseball all Spring, and save in one game had even the enemy rooting for him.

Boston, accustomed to flashy shortstopping, will see plenty of it while the captain of the Braves is holding forth. We might go on and enumerate the various spots where the team has been improved, but we've gone it before, and the fans will get it first hand now, anyhow.

The Giants haven't recovered from the shock of the opening and are still staggering. None of the Braves could be heard audibly regretting the fact. The local heroes have plenty of revenge to collect from the New Yorkers, who have been making Braves Field a playground for the past few seasons. The Stallings stars would rather beat the Giants than win the pennant, almost, and accordingly will be out with all their kick this afternoon.

Manager Stallings isn't at all discouraged and still looks for a big year with his ultimate team of Braves.

"I said before the season started," he remarked to your correspondent, "that the Braves would win a lot of games, and also lose a lot. They aren't the best club in the league, but they are a lot better than they figure. Getting beaten at Brooklyn wasn't so surprising, as the team, keyed to a high pitch by getting the first two from New York, slumped by being forced to lay off for two days.

"But that New York medicine was good medicine, Horace. If they will not go against the Giants beaten before they start—or against any other team. They are fighting and playing smart baseball and when they really get swing ng along together will contest every game they play. I don't predict any pennants at all, but I do say that I believe the Braves this year will give the Boston fans a much better brand of baseball than they have been getting from us. And our loyal supporters certainly deserve it."

JOE EAGAN VS. SILENT MARTIN AT COMMERCIAL A. C.

By JACK CONWAY.

Joe Eagan, Dorchester middleweight will receive another chance to fight his way back into select pugilistic circles when he clashes with Silent Martin of New York in a twelve round bout at the Commercial A. C. tomorrow night.

Eagan showed he is better than most of our Eastern middleweights when he walloped Battling Thomas at the Commonwealth Club Monday evening. Mike Gilwood will never have to worry about losing his title to the local man, but there are, nevertheless, mighty few glove wielders who can beat Dorchester Joseph.

Martin is the type of mitter who is liable to hand Eagan an upset. The New Yorker is a sweet puncher, as he proved when he stopped Pal Reid in six frames at Portland last Winter. He advances the glad tidings that he will take Eagan.

Dan McCormack of East Boston will meet Jack Dillon of Cambridge in the semi-final of eight rounds, while there will also be six

A real lambaswoggle match of class will take place Tuesday night at Mechanics Building, when Abe Friedman, Boston entry for bantamweight honors, travels through the ropes with Jack Sharkey of New York City, conqueror of Jimmy Wilde English flyweight champion.

Jack Sharkey is one of the most consistent boxers in bantamweight ranks.

Abe Friedman has been boxing on high of late, beating Chick Hayes, Roy Moore and Marty Collins in his last three starts.

In the semi-windup of 10 rounds Freddy Williams, the crack Dorchester featherweight meets Young Chacker of Manchester in one of the eight rounders Joe McFadden of Providence meets Young Gould of Brockton.

Wilde Stops Murray in Eighth Round

Camden, N. J., April 22.—Jimmy Wilde stopped Battling Murray of Philadelphia in the eighth round at the Sportsmen's Club. Toward the close of the bout Wilde was punishing Murray severely that Referee Billy Hoeap halted the festivities after one minute of the eighth round had passed.

Magoun Sq. Association to Hold Smoker

The Magoun Square Civic Association of Somerville, which has conducted two of the most successful smoker talks yet held in that village, will hold another smoker at the K. of C. Hall Wednesday evening, May 5. The committee in charge promises to put over an even better show than the former ones. Well-known talent will entertain between the wrestling and boxing bouts.

SIEGAL OUTCLASSES DOYLE IN 12 ROUNDS

Nate Siegal of Revere out-classed Paul Doyle, in their 12-round bout at the Fenway A. A.

Andy Chaney of Baltimore defeated Bobby Josephs of South End in a one-sided 12-round mill.

Jack and Tille went to a draw in 12 rounds.

Tech Boxing

Tech boxers close their season Saturday night with the mitt artists of the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia. The Tech team leaves tomorrow

Renault vs. Levinsky at Portland

Jack Renault, one of our new heavyweight punchers, has been matched to meet Battling Levinsky in a twelve-round bout at Lewiston on April 26. Renault believes he will hand Levinsky a setback. The battler is not the classy fighter he was five years ago.

Robinson After Bout with Reid

George Robinson, the Cambridge middleweight, is eager to get another match with Pal Reid. Jim McDonald's protege believes he would be able to reverse the result of his last meeting with the former tar.

MacDonald is also trying to land a bout for Dave Powers with one Young Kloby of Lawrence. James adds that the weight for such a tussle must be 142 pounds.

RED SOX, GUESTS OF SENATORS

Barrow Club in Attempt to Grab Off Sixth Victory at Washington Opener

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Leading the league, with five successive victories stored away, the Boston Red Sox opened up a four-game series with the Senators here today.

As the local club was the first victim of the Boston juggernaut back in Massachusetts, the invaders expected to materially increase their string of wins before they departed for Philadelphia.

The Sox have beaten the Senators twice and the Yanks three times already, and all their victories have been impressive. They have displayed unexpected pitching and defensive strength and have managed to produce sufficient attack to come through.

They arrive for the series with all their pitchers ready, and thus far they have had the breaks and haven't been forced to use anybody out of turn. It looks to the Washington players as though the Sox would be a very difficult team to beat until some of their fingers slip up a bit.

The visitors, who didn't appear particularly hopeful this Spring, have collected a large flock of pepper since the season started, and are now actually figuring themselves as possible champions. Having met both Washington and New York, supposedly strong teams, and won easily, they will hit the West later on full of fight.

As things stand, the schedule is all in favor of the Sox. They are on the road until May 3, and take on the Senators, Athletics and Yanks, respectively. They have already showed that the first and last named teams have no terrors for them, and as the A's have opened like a chonic Philadelphia outfit, there's no reason to believe that Boston will not continue to show the way in the race at least until some of the Western contenders are bumped into.

This Day in History—April 22, 1920.

THIS is the anniversary of the birth, in 1766, of Madame de Stael, the French authoress, who was responsible for the start of the French romantic movement, resulting in one of the greatest literary regenerations in history. Madame de Stael was brilliant and witty, but repellant in speech.

Coincidence in Dates.

THE dates of Monday and Tuesday, the 19th and 20th of January, when placed side by side, give us the date of the present year —1920. The last time such a sequence gave the date of the year was over a hundred years ago, namely, in 1819. In what year will it occur again? Not before 2021.

THE YOUNG DIANA

Story of Tense Mystery in Which Heroine Holds Key to Youth

By Marie Corelli

"OF course, I am mad!" he answered, rising at the same moment and confronting her —"As mad as all original discoverers are! As mad as Galileo, Newton, George Stephenson or Madame Curie! And I am one with them in the madness that makes for a world's higher sanity! Come, look at me" and he took both her hands firmly in his own—"Honestly, can you say I am mad?"

His eyes, dark and luminous, were steadfast and frank as the eyes of a faithful animal,—his expression serious,—even noble. As she met his calm gaze the color flushed her cheeks suddenly, then as quickly faded, leaving her very pale

"No—I cannot" she said, swiftly and humbly. "Forgive me! But you deal with the impossible!"

He loosened her hands

"Nothing is impossible!" he said. "To harmonize the brain of a man conceives in thought can be born in deed. Otherwise there would be a flaw in the mathematics of the universe, which is a thing utterly inconceivable." He paused, —then went on. "I have told you all that you wished to know. Are you satisfied?"

Faint Smile

She looked at him, and a faint smile lifted the corners of her mouth.

"If you are satisfied, I am," she replied. "What I seem to understand in this—if you succeed in your experiment I shall feel and look younger than I do now—we will leave the 'beauty' part out of it—and if you fail, the 'cells' you have begun to charge with your mysterious compound will disintegrate, and there'll be an end of me"

"You have put the case with perfect accuracy," he said. "That is so."

"Very well! I am prepared!—and she went to the table desk where she usually worked—"and now I'll go on deciphering Latin scrips"

She seated herself, and, turning over the papers she had left, began to write.

An odd sense of compunction came over him as he looked at her and realized her courage, patience, and entire submission to his will, and yet—he was careful and vigilant eye noted the improved outlines of cheek and chin, the delicate, almost imperceptible, softening of the lately thin and angular profile—and the foreigate of a coming scientific triumph was stronger in him than any other human feeling. Nevertheless she was a woman, and——

Moved by a sudden impulse, he approached and bent over her as she worked

"Diana," he said, very softly and kindly—"you will forgive me if I have seemed to you callous, or cruel"

Her heart beat quickly—she was annoyed with herself at the nervous tremor which ran through her from head to foot

"I have nothing to forgive," she answered, simply—"I am your paid 'subject'—not a woman at all in your eyes. And being so I am content to live—or die—in your service"

He hesitated another moment; then pressing a kiss on the small hand that moved steadily across the paper on which she was writing he quietly left the room, closing the door behind him

CHAPTER XIV.

SO she knew! She knew that, as usual, she was personally a useless commodity. So far as herself her own life and fate were concerned her intelligence continued to follow her—no one was kindly or vitally interested in her —she was just a "subject" for experiment. She had suspected this all along—yet now that she had heard the fact stated coldly and dispassionately, she was more or less resentful

She waited a few minutes, her heart beating quickly and the vexed blood rising to her brows and making her cheeks burn—waited till she was sure Dimitrius would not re-enter—then, suddenly flinging down her pen, she rose and paced the room hurriedly to and fro, scarce knowing what she did. Was it not hard—hard! she said to herself, with an involuntary clenching of her hands as she walked up and down, that she should never be considered more than a passive "thing" to be used for other folks' advantage or convenience?

Calm Calculations

How had it happened that no one in all the world had ever thought of putting himself (or herself) to "use" for her sake! The calm calculations of Feodor Dimitrius on her possible death under his treatment had (though she would not admit it to herself) inwardly hurt her. Yet, after all, what had she at any right to expect? She had answered a strange, very strange advertisement, and through that action had come into association with the personality of a more than strange man of whose character and reputation she knew little or nothing

And, so far, she had "fallen on her feet"—that is to say, she had secured a comfortable home and handsome competence for the services she had pledged herself to render. Then, as she had taken the whole thing on trust had she any cause to complain of the nature of those services? No!—and in truth she did not complain—she only felt—felt, to the core of her soul the callous indifference which Dimitrius had plainly expressed as to her fate in the dangerous "experiment" he had already commenced upon her. Hot tears sprang to her eyes—she struggled with them, ashamed and humiliated.

"Children and girls cry" she said, with self-contempt. "I, being a woman 'of mature years,' ought to know better! But, oh, it is hard!—hard!"

Her thoughts flew to Madame Dimitrius—had she followed her first feminine impulse, she would have run to that kind old lady and asked for a little pity, sympathy and affection"—but she knew such an act would seem weak and absurd. Still walking up and down, her steps gradually became more measured and even with one hand against her eyes, she pressed away the tear drops that hung on her lashes—then, pausing, looked again, as she so often looked at the never stopping steel instrument that struck off its little fiery sparks with an almost wearisome exactitude and monotony. Stretching out her hand she tried to catch one of the fiery dots of flame as one would catch a midge or a mote—and at last succeeded, and the glowing mote shone on her open palm like a ruby for about half a minute, then vanished, leaving no trace but a slight tingling sensation on the flesh it had touched

"Queer!" she said—then, musing to herself and half to understand as by "inspiring" himself"

World Beautiful.

She looked through the window at the grey-cold Winter landscape and let her eyes travel along the distant peaks of the Alpine ranges, where for ever and ever the glitter of sunshine fell. The world—the natural world was beautiful!—but how much more beautiful would it seem if she had a full heart and singing voice! If with youth to hope and to love, one had to die, and go out to pasture and grow old in peace and quiet among flocks of life, could one ask for greater happiness?

"When one is quite young we hardly see Nature's true beauty. It is only in later years that we begin to find out how much we have missed. Now, if I, with my love of beauty, were young——

Here her meditations came to an abrupt halt. Had not Dimitrius promised that if he succeeded in his experiment, youth would be hers again?—south united to experience?—but it would that be a desirable result? She wondered

"The old, old story" she sighed. "The old legend of Faust and the devil—the thirst of knowledge for a longer extension of youth and life!—only, in my case, I have not asked for these things, nor have I tried to summon up the devil. I am just an unwanted woman—unwanted so far as the world is concerned, but useful just now as a 'subject' for the recharging of cells"

She gave a half weary, half scornful gesture, and resumed her work, and for an hour or more sat patiently translating and writing But her thoughts were rebels and went breaking into all manner of unfamiliar places—moreover, she herself felt more or less relentless and disposed to fight against destiny.

The Latest Word in Frocks and Suits

Made of blue taffeta, this suit proves that the distended hip-line is still in vogue, especially when worn with a chic black hat and veil.

This gown is attractive in its simplicity, combining a corsage of brown taffeta which emphasizes the Medici collar and a beige figured skirt.

A stylish suit of serge in which the high collar forms an attractive feature and the hat with sprays adds to the general tone of smartness.

When a Girl Marries

Interesting Serial by Ann Lisle

IWOULDN'T have lifted a finger to save Val from the penalty she ought to pay. But I know she'd never pay it. And I was willing to do a lot to save Lane Cosby from the suffering he had stumbled into when he was trying so hard to do right.

"I'll see Evvy Mason," I said at last, slowly. "But first I must talk to Val. Shall we go down to her?"

"I hope she'll see you," said Lane doubtfully, but he followed me almost meekly when I led the way to the elevator and on up to his apartment. Once there he hesitated again. "You go back to Val alone. I've been a want to see me," he stammered

Evvy's Motive?

I found Val propped up in bed amidst billows of chiffon redolent of oriental perfumes.

"Anne," the wheedling child exclaimed, the thick cream of her voice curdling as she went on "that Lane made the grand confession? Yes, he has—I've it in your hands to eat eyes. And yet you speak to me? Don't worry. It won't contaminate you to know me. There will be no scandal. I'll see to that. When Evvy makes sure that I've resigned in her favor where a certain gentleman is concerned, and that Lonely Tommy takes all my spare time, she won't be so anxious to get rid of her rival"

"I thought I'd rather—as soon as you explained the reason for her wanting to hurt you." I began primly.

Val sat up in bed, leaned on one bare elbow and stared at me out of sultry eyes, twisting one corner of her crimson mouth as she spat out her words

"You'd speak to Evvy—for me! Oh, that's too delicious! You—Oh, you funny little innocent! Don't you know why she began to hate me? Don't you see? Oh, you fool—you precious little fool. It's because she thought Jim likes me. Your Jimmie-boy, baby! Your Jimmie!"

Victim of Emotions

What Val had just said to me amounted to this:

"Evvy hates me because both of us like Jim."

To face a woman I suspect of an interest in Jim has never been easy. Jealousy has always tortured me so that I look at everything from an oblique angle, and twist and distort things out of all semblance to truth. Throbbing heart and burning eyes and a feeling of nausea helplessness always made me the victim of my own emotions when I had to deal with a woman I thought attracted to my husband or attractive to him

So when Val made her insolent and shameless declaration it left amazing that for a minute I was submerged under dark waters of misery and distrust. And then suddenly I came up to sunlight and sanity. I laughed. Val stared at me through scornful eyes that widened in amazement as I replied with what was almost a chuckle: "Oh, Val, you are funny! Instead of hating each other because you want Jim's liking, why don't you and Evvy turn and rend me because I have his love? That would be much more in keeping with the problem-play you seem bent on inventing."

Val stared back at me as if fascinated. She moved her lips, but didn't speak. I felt myself mistress of the situation because I was mistress of myself, and I enjoyed the feeling I went on in the calm, superior tone I had elected to use.

"My dear, only his wife or a very clever woman can hope to understand Jim Harrison. I have had the good luck to be his wife. And sometimes I think his sister Virginia and our pal Betty Winston understand him. He's the complete cavalier—chivalrous to all beauty. But he's impersonal in that chivalry, even when he's playing the game most devotedly. And women will misunderstand."

A Battle of Wits

"You are telling me very clearly that Jim has made a fool of me, aren't you, Anne?" asked Val, her long eyes fixed on me with an expression I couldn't read.

"Dear me—no!" I replied with studied innocence. "He wouldn't. He's chivalrous, as I've told you. And he'd hate to think that the wife of a man he respects and likes as he does Lane Cosby would ever—well, to quote you—'make a fool of herself'——"

Valerie swung out of bed, slipped her arched feet into little amber silk mules and flung a robe of green and amber satin over her chiffon gown.

"Thanks for the hint," she yawned "I'll start practising the wifely devoted to dear old Lane. And with Tommy for a side line, I'm sure Evvy won't think it worth while to dig around our family—graveyard. Perhaps I can fix it so that hauling out of a skeleton-in-the-closet won't seem desirable to Miss Evvy."

I stared at Val for a moment in wonder that a woman could confess herself so completely to another woman. Lane Cosby had given me a glimpse into a tragedy at once big and grim and sordid

"I'm sure you can manage Evvy—and Tom, too, perhaps," I said with lightness that masked my real meaning; yet I couldn't refrain from adding: "But who is going to manage you—and see that Lane comes to no harm? He's been hurt enough."

"You might look out for Lane—come, let's go out to him now," said Val, with an air of finality

Five minutes later I left the Cosby apartment with a feeling of pity for the man and something akin to hatred for the woman. Val was perched on Lane's knee, assuring him of her love and that no one could hurt her or make her unhappy while she had her big, brown bear. And Lane Cosby, who had only a few minutes before been shuddering on the brink of tragedy, was smiling down at the woman he adored—smiling and believing himself happy.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"
Let your sore, swollen, aching feet spread out in a bath of "Tiz."
Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy, they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.
When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—It's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy, and you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.
There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.
Get a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.—Advertisement.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT
Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected
Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.
An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.
However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Boston American.—Advertisement.

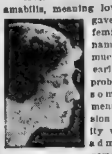
"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

AMY

AMY, signifying beloved, is derived from the Latin amo, to love. There is an adjective amabilis, meaning lovable, which gave rise to the feminine proper name Aimable, much used in early times, probably through some complimentary allusion to the quality which is an admirable if sometimes rare feminine possession.



Copyright by Harris & Ewing

The first Aimable known to history was the Norman heiress of Gloucester, who so strongly protested against accepting even a King's son without a name. On English lips her name became Amabel, which has been handed down practically unchanged in English families. France adopted the name, after placing the stamp of her language upon it, and long honored a Saint Amata or Aimee. She had many namesakes, so there can be little doubt that Normans families are responsible for pretty simple Amy.

England liked the name and adopted that spelling, but France has always clung to Aimee. About the end of the seventh century the masculine counterpart was given a religious significance by Saint Aime, or Amatus, a hermit of Valais, and later Bishop of Sion, who was persecuted by Merovingian kings.

Amicia was evolved by the English from Aimee and served as an affected form of Amy, just as Edythe and Alys are used by ultra-smart young ladies today for Edith and Alice. The most notable instance of the adoption of Amicia was the daughter of the Earl of Leicester, who brought her county to the fierce old persecutor, Simon de Montfort, and left it to the war-like earl who imprisoned Henry III. Her sister carried Amicie into the Flemish family of De Roye, where straightway it became Amice.

Amy's lucky gem is the carnelian, which gives courage and confidence to its wearer and preserves her from injury or accident. Singers are especially fortunate in possessing a carnelian, since it is said to have great potency in promoting strength and clarity of voice. Friday is Amy's lucky day and six her mystic number.

Draperies for the Home

By Loretto C. Lynch

THERE are some souls so lacking in the artistic sense that window curtains or drapery are taboo in their homes because they are "unsanitary," they tell us. Yet, are dreary places our homes would be if there were no curtains, no draperies—just plain hospital variety cleanliness!

Materials for curtaining and means of keeping curtains clean and sanitary are such, these days, that one may have delightfully curtained windows and cleanliness at the same time. The entrance door of the home first claims our attention. Where the door contains a single window, a panel curtain, stretched on well-set brass rods, is appropriate. These panels come in a wonderful assortment. Stout net with a reproduction lace centre is always pleasing. Patterned net shirred top and bottom is also a good choice.

When there is a fan-shaped piece of glass over the entrance door, obtain a curved rod and shirr the net on it. At the centre of the lowest point gather the net tightly together and finish it off neatly.

Often the effect of a window is "ruined" because a curtain has figures too large or too small. Wide, long windows in a large room call for the largest and most elaborate figures, while small windows or even large windows in small rooms, call for the small inconspicuous figures. Plain net with no design is also used to advantage in making a small window appear larger.

Once upon a time the shops only showed hollow, round, brass rods But now the better shops are showing the flat rods. These are worth investigating. If one can afford the extra expense, the solid brass rods, cut to measure, are a wise purchase. They last a lifetime and no amount of tugging on the curtains will bend these rods. Any good metal polish may be used to brighten up brass rods, either hollow or solid, if they become unpleasantly discolored.

The overdrapery may be made of a variety of materials. Among the materials shown in the better shops are velour, the silk and cotton poplins, art cloth, boral cloth, taffeta as well as denim, satin and monk's cloth

Some of the better shops will undertake to stencil the art cloth, or, in fact, any other suitable material selected in most attractive design and colors

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS
HAIR GROWN ON MR. BRITTAIN'S BALD HEAD BY INDIANS' MYSTERIOUS HAIR GROWER
My head as the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that as he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. To-day, at the age of 56, I have a luxurious growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs.
Indians' Secret of Hair Growth

At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair tonics, specialists, scalp treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian Chief. I questioned him closely as to his supposedly wonderful growth of hair. Although I had but little to do, I gave a portion of each day to my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and are long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days.
That I may extend and help to appreciate my state of mind wistfully. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but very dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and eventually came into possession of the principle for preparing the mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into printed form for use of others.
That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved. Many men and women, also children, have profited from Kotalko.
How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair
My honest belief is that hair roots rarely die even when the hair falls out through dandruff, fever, excessive dryness or other disorders. I have found by experience that often when hair falls out the roots become imbedded within the scalp, covered by hard skin, so that they cannot receive nourishment. Rubbing on a bottle which will grow when fertilized, shampoos (which sometimes aggravate) or hair lotions which contain alcohol are useless to do more than, they dry it, mean by it brittle. Kotalko contains those elements of nature which give new vitality to the scalp and hair.

STEEL AND OIL ISSUES OFF

More Opposition to Bear Raiding During a Million-Share Morning

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were irregular in New York at noon, but the tone was still heavy. Steels and oils were under pressure all the morning, but selling of motors relaxed. These three groups were the main objectives for professional bears, who resumed raiding today. But they met with more opposition. The market grew improved in the second hour. This was largely due to covering operations.

There were strong spots in the list including Vanadium and Replogle. Rails developed strength and were led by New York Central, New Haven, Reading and Southern Pacific. The market was very active, transactions in the morning exceeding a million shares. A number of stocks made good recoveries, including General Motors, American Locomotive, Punta Alegre and Cuban American. Call money renewed at 7 per cent. Sterling exchange rates were lower. There was little selling at the opening for finance and line.

IRREGULAR AT OPENING.

The price movement was irregular at the opening. There was a fair overnight demand for stocks, and the liquidation of the previous session was not renewed. But the undertone was heavy. During the first hour the majority of the leaders were lower, but losses did not average large. Purchases of the opening demand for stocks in the loan market after the close on Wednesday indicated selling that was due chiefly for short account. The largest short interest is said to be in United States Steel and General Motors. The cause of the break has not been defined. It is attributed by some to selling this week by pools and by speculators who had become discouraged by the failure of their efforts to lure the public back into the market.

IN DOUBT ABOUT JAPAN.

Uncertainty as to just what has happened in Japan and how far the financial crisis in that country will extend has had a very unsettling influence. Professionals say that events have justified the banish attitude they took so long matter of fact. The crash should have come when the money situation was pronounced easier by additional reductions in rates which began on Monday, took small by traders unaware. Reports as to serious differences between nations at the San Remo conference may have contributed to the slump in security valuations. The international situation is in a most unfavorable state, despite a decline in prices. There is more money tied up in loans on commodities and in loans on stocks. Banking interests have been hoping for a gradual and not a violent break in commodity quotations. There was nothing gentle about what happened to stocks.

LOCAL MARKET STILL WEAK

Boston Movement Downward After Mixed Opening; Curb Trading More Active

The market was mixed in movement at the opening in Boston, with the tone heavy and the trend downward. Prices declined during the morning. By noon the market was weak, losses being in the proportion of two to one as to gains. Substantial losses were shown by many issues. But weakness was about the only feature to the trading. It lacked distinction as regards individual stocks.

Concessions of from one to more than three points were recorded during the morning against Ahmeek, Calumet & Hecla, Mohawk, Lake, Massachusetts Gas, Swift & Co., Swift International, Root & Vandervoort, Metropolitan Steamship, Walham Watch and Amoskeag. Smaller losses were sustained by American Telephone, Dwight Street, United Fruit, Wickwire, Orpheum, Atlas Tack, Davis Daly, Waldorf and Gray & Davis.

Simms Magneto was up a point and fractional gains were shown by Elder, Eastern Manufacturing, Greenfield, Mayflower, Old Colony, North Butte, United Shoe and Eastern Steamship preferred.

CURB ACTIVE AT OPENING.

The Curb showed a little variation from its recent procedure by opening with a fairly active session. This did not last long. Before the morning was over it had quieted down to normal dimensions. Strong prices at the start included Arizona Silver, Arizona Tip Top, Seven Metals, Mutual Trust and Pacific Hide. Issues to recede at the outset included Gilliland, Simms Petroleum, Midway and Black Hawk.

Among gains at the end of the hour were White Oil, 1¾ at 28; Arizona Silver, 17 cents at 1-16; Tip Top, 2 cents at 18 cents; Seven Metals, 3 cents at 16 cents, after selling at 20 cents, and Homa, 1 cent at 13 cents. Seven Metals was the most active stock during the morning, followed by Arizona silver.

Losses included Gilliland, 1 at 39; Simms Petroleum, 1 at 20; Boston & Montana, 2 cents at 61 cents, and Crystal, 1 cent at 26 cents.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

Net earnings by the Waldorf System, Inc., during March amounted to $86,508 after taxes and charges. February net was $43,235 and January net $49,580. The Waldorf-Astoria Hotel paid $150,000 for new equipment. After deducting $150,000 for this item, the net for March was $14,084 a share on common.

The report for 1919 by the Root & Van Dervoort Corporation shows net income of $209,241, which is equivalent after preferred dividends to $12.44 a share on common.

New Massachusetts corporations include the Texas Petroleum Corporation, Boston, $1,000,000; Peanut Co., Boston, $50,000; Fisk Stores, Boston, $5,000; Miller Chester, $200,000.

The Massachusetts Housing Corporation chartered in this State is capitalized for $1,000,000, represented by 20,000 shares of preferred and 10,000 common, par value of each $50. Robert T. Fowler, of Boston, is president, and Ernest H. Jenney, of Boston, treasurer.

Big Importations by Japan

Japan has been a big importer of recent years and has obtained large quantities of commodities in this country on credit. This gives Americans keen interest in the financial resources of Japanese. During the four years from 1916 to 1919, inclusive, Japan's imports from the country exceeded its exports to it by $211,920,635. Last year it exported products valued at $366,364,293 to the United States, while its imports from this country amounted to $446,313,213. The 1919 balance of trade was against Japan to the extent of $43,488,620.

RAILROAD STRIKE ADDED TO LIVING COST

According to economists the railroad strike had added to the cost of living, as Bradstreet's index of wholesale prices of staple stood at 5.13 for the week ended April 16, the highest figure since January 22. Food prices dropped, according to this authority, from January to April. The switchmen's strike began in Chicago on April 2, and regarding its effect upon food prices it is said:

"Meat animals and grains could not be moved from farms; packing houses and cold storage houses had ample supplies of meats, butter, cheese and eggs, and wholesalers had stores of foods, but could not deliver to fill orders, while perishable goods like green vegetables were at a famine point. What the strikers accomplished was an increase of 4.3 per cent in the wholesale cost of staple articles of food, which everybody, themselves included, must purchase and which will be considerably more when it reaches them and all other customers."

Ore Buying Decreases

Less ore is being bought in the Joplin market owing to freight embargoes. Mines are short of coal, and this has reduced production. Prices offered last week were $47.50 for zinc blende ores, up to $72.50 for calamine ores and $110 for lead ores. A little more demand for lead is reported in the New York metal market.

Silk Market is Steady

The silk market in New York is steady, but jobbers and buyers are holding off and slack buying for a while is expected. Japanese silk futures declined last week from $1,600 to $1,390 a bale. It is stated however, that the demand for silk by American consumers is unabated. It was phenomenal last year.

Mark Exchange

GERMAN CITY BONDS

Exchange value of the Mark advanced from 1.02 to 2.10 between March 1st and April 15th, an increase of over 100%.

Commenting on this Improvement in German Exchange rates, the

in its issue of April 3, says:

"The Magazine of Wall Street was among the first to call attention to various German bonds, now obtainable at very low prices, because of the depreciation of the mark, which must be rated as sound unless Germany turns to Bolshevism, and even in that event would be worthy of consideration as speculations."

This article, the best we have seen on the German situation, will be sent on request.

IT'S WHITE AND $1.10

"A lucky man is rarer than a white crow."

If the author of the above proverb had known about NEW SAFETY PAPER, it would never have been written, for the reason that over 700 lucky men are gathered together in a new enterprise which is rarer than a white crow, and IT'S WHITE. That's why the 700 are lucky. But they are lucky in stock also. They were lucky in getting in early right thing at the right time and in seeing their capital increase the value of their shares in a way that Boston has seen but twice in 25 years. Then, too, the actual profits of their product have already exceeded 3 times the estimate of the first year's output.

That is why NEW SAFETY PAPER is, in all reason, worth much more, altho selling today at $1.10.

On Thursday, April 8th, we said in these columns: "If our belief in this matter is sound, and our original estimate of business awaiting us, the price will rapidly advance from now on." At that time the price was $1.05 and another day or two will see another advance as only a few shares remain unsold of the first allotment. Again, we said: "If you see prices advance you will know that the expected has occurred."

You have seen the price advance once since then and you will only have to wait a short time to see it go twice as much. You can be one of the 700 lucky men who are as rare as white crows if you will, but you cannot do so without putting your time against ours; for there are no gains without pains.

Some of the lucky ones bought at 50c; others bought all the way up to $1.00 and then thought that the price looked high, but when they found that assured orders warranted the shares selling at $5.00, they made up their minds that any price below $2.00 was low for NEW SAFETY PAPER.

If you doubt it, call at our offices and be shown or write for Booklet.

FURNITURE

$1 ONLY For This Attractive $14 Dinner Set

The demand has been so great, by the many who were unable to buy last month, that we have hoared to the public's pleasure, and will continue this extraordinary value during April; so if you buy $25 worth or more this month at this big Uptown store, this beautiful dinner set is yours for $1.

The $ Sign

Means nothing to the careful buyer of high quality, which means long service, in what you must have if you are to get the utmost return out of your dollar, since it is a fact that the lower grade of furniture has depreciated much more than the high grade, lung-service kind has. But here in this big Uptown store for over fifty years we have combined quality with a most reasonable price, because we are Uptown with a very low expense and could and can afford to give you much greater values. Let us show you. It is a pleasure, whether you buy or not.

A Wonderful Value

$6 Value

$3.50

One that shows very clearly how well this big Uptown store combines quality with a very reasonable price. Here is shown a genuine Mahogany Chair of value in months. Made of solid oak, beautifully finished in slip-seat; this chair will give a lifetime of service, yet is very reasonably priced, losing value $6. Our Uptown price is $3.50 each.

LOOK FIRST ALL YOU CAN

then see us. You will more readily see how low prices can save you, as well as how much cosier we can furnish your home.

See Our $100

Full-size Mahogany Cranophonone. It is the equal of any $150 instrument you have ever heard. Here in our shop you will find this kind of records, as well as the finest instruments the market affords.

Special Payments

may be arranged if you so desire; you may pay a comfortable amount at time of purchase, a reasonable amount each week until it is paid for. SIX months credit without interest.

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Elihu Root's Seditious Appeal for a Revolutionary Act by the Supreme Court

The arguments against the Prohibition law in the briefs of the attorneys for the liquor interests have just been filed in the Supreme Court of the United States.

To lawyers anywhere in the world except in America their fundamental arguments would be astounding.

Senator Root's brief to the Supreme Court in the matter of the liquor case is nothing more nor less than a subtle attempt to deny to the people of the United States the right to modify their Constitution by the ordinary, proper and peaceful means provided for by that charter of the people's rights.

The reactionary, predatory interests of the United States which Senator Root represents in private and public life have long desired to prevent any possible progressive modification of our Constitution in the direction of the democratic development of the whole world, and in a way to halt the encroachments of the money power upon the government of the nation and the rights of the people.

Senator Root has shrewdly used the liquor question, in which he will have the backing of a certain short-sighted element of the radicals, to endeavor to deny to the people the right to improve their Government properly and peacefully and by the methods legitimately and legally provided.

He has endeavored to ossify the Constitution, to deprive it of its life and growth and flexibility.

He has tried to iron-bind it and lock it in the reactionary safe of the privileged interests and then throw away the key of popular rights and peaceful procedure.

It is true that Senator Root's subtle and seditious appeal to the Supreme Court will not cause surprise to American lawyers when the manner of man who makes the appeal is considered, but it will awaken the indignation of every American lawyer who is not an intellectual serf and a mere mercenary at the bar.

Every American lawyer whose intelligence is equal to the least conception of the character of a juridical question and of the true functions of a court will realize that this is an appeal almost without disguise to the class prejudice, the economic, social and political bias of nine men appointed, not elected, and serving for life, and not for a term of years, and beyond the reach of public opinion, which they may with impunity outrage.

Every intelligent lawyer will realize that this is a seditious, revolutionary appeal for a revolutionary reactionary act on the part of the Supreme Court.

The daring of it and the extreme character of it indicates the approach of a serious political juncture in our public affairs.

We have seen the Supreme Court usurp the power not given to it by the Constitution to destroy an act of Congress upon the ground that Congress did not receive the power to enact the law destroyed from the Constitution, whence all powers of both Court and Congress are derived.

We have seen the court usurp the power to amend an act of Congress and make it consist with their economic and social ideas by importing into the law words which Congress had not only NOT put there, but had deliberately REFUSED to put there.

It was thus that the Supreme Court hog-tied the Sherman Anti-Trust law by saying that it prohibited only unreasonable monopolies, when as a matter of fact it prohibited all monopolies, and when as a matter of fact every court had been interpreting it for twenty years without even dreaming that such an interpretation was possible.

We have seen the Supreme Court within a month take another great step beyond its Constitutional frontiers and beyond any boundaries ever known to a court in the history of civilization.

We have seen within a few weeks the Supreme Court refuse to entertain the Government's action to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation as a monopoly under the law, not because the law did not forbid the formation of such a company, but because in the judgment of four men out of nine in the Supreme Court, it was not in the public interest to enforce the law.

And now men like Elihu Root are conspiring to get the Supreme Court to tell the American people that they cannot amend their own Constitution in the very way that the forefathers provided that we should amend it.

Elihu Root, corporation attorney and corporation Senator, speaking with the boldness of the business interests behind him and speaking merely ostensibly for the liquor interests, but really for all corporate and special interests of the country, attempts to dynamite the very cornerstone of the whole structure of our democracy.

There is nothing able, nothing very clever, in this appeal of Mr. Root to the prejudices and passions of the nine gentlemen who sit on the Supreme Court.

The only thing striking about it is the boldness with which it proposes the violation of the most fundamental constitutional conventions and the indecent nakedness of language in which Root has dressed the seditious, revolutionary appeal to the court to be guilty of an act morally treasonable.

This appeal is seditious and is REVOLUTIONARY, for it is obviously just as possible to be revolutionary in the direction of reaction as in the direction of radicalism.

Indeed, it is generally the revolution in the direction of reaction which precedes and induces the consequent revolution in favor of radicalism.

That this endeavor, then, to persuade the Supreme Court to attempt revolutionary usurpation of power, even if temporarily successful, may eventually lead to civil war and a counter revolution by force, is demonstrable to any one who will give the matter serious consideration.

If by unconstitutional means the power of the President should be taken away, that would be a revolutionary act. So if by unconstitutional means Congress should be deprived of its powers, that would be a revolutionary act.

But what shall be said of an act which takes away from the PEOPLE THEMSELVES the power over their own constitution which they have established—takes away from the people the control of their organic law and establishes their own public servants as their MASTERS?

What shall be said of an act which would overthrow not only the power of the Government, but of the AMERICAN PEOPLE, the source of all power, and set up as dictators with the combined powers of the President, Congress, courts and people nine old-fashioned gentlemen of the Supreme Court, appointed for life, and selected theoretically for their ability as lawyers, but certainly not for their ability as statesmen and economists?

No man who reads his country's history thoughtfully can consider the danger of civil war and revolution too remote for apprehension if the game the great propertied interests, for whom Root is audaciously speaking in the name of liquor, is played successfully before the Supreme Court.

The thoughtless man will perhaps ask how five, being a majority of the nice, mellowed old gentlemen on the Supreme Court, and without the executive and organizing experience and ability so necessary to the establishment of arbitrary power by force, can create a revolution.

But these judges will not, personally, ORGANIZE the reactionary revolution, nor personally precipitate the counter radical revolution.

They will merely strike the spark into the tinder which the reactionary elements have been accumulating in this country for a good many years.

They will write the formula; they will sound the tocsin; they will create a psychology which the reactionaries feel will be necessary for the successful carrying out of their revolutionary designs.

They will paralyze the independent judgment of the legalistically and commercially minded lawyers.

They will give all the kept newspapers the opportunity to seem to be supporting law and order in their cry for reactionary revolution.

The Supreme Court, though flattered as leaders, will be used merely as figureheads.

Their decision that the American people cannot change their Constitution, though of no more righteous authority than a similar statement by five parrots trained by Mr. Root, would yet give courage to those who are in the reactionary conspiracy to attempt to carry it out and will discourage many thousands of timid, patriotic citizens, notwithstanding the fact that these patriots are opposed to revolutions, reactionary or radical, and have the most to lose by despotism on the one hand and disorder on the other.

This reactionary conspiracy has been brewing ever since the last Congressional election, so badly defaulted by the progressive forces, and since President Wilson's great apostacy from democracy in his message to the session of Congress assembling after that election.

Then every reactionary, profiteer and exploiter, in fact, the whole plunderbund came out of their holes to take a look at the weather.

They found a tame Congress, an apostate President who had turned his back on American affairs to go Don Quixoting on the European stage.

So the reactionaries found the wind blowing in their direction and needing only more velocity to overturn some embarrassing democratic bulwarks.

This velocity they proceeded to give it by huge propaganda calculated to create hysteria concerning the danger of red revolution, under cover of which they could bring about the real revolution of reaction.

Root's argument will have no more effect upon the judges than Webster's argument in the Dartmouth College case affected the same court when those who hated democracy in his day wanted the court to limit the power of the States in certain directions not limited by the national Constitution.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, in his life of Webster, throws a spotlight on the way great politico-judicial decisions are "pulled off" by "the interests."

Lodge is one of our leading reactionaries. He admires Webster. He admires Chief Justice Marshall, who hated Jefferson and democrats of all kinds.

He regarded the Dartmouth College decision as a great victory for his political point of view.

But candor as an historian compelled him to admit that Marshall and Judge Washington were with Webster before he began to argue and the other five judges were still against him when he closed his argument.

Not even Marshall's influence succeeded in changing them, so he prevented a decision until after their vacation.

Then the historian says a campaign started to "get at" the judges during their vacation.

Political friends were sent to their homes, and every conceivable thing that could be done under cover was done to bring these five judges to agree.

As Lodge says, "The whole business was conducted like a quiet, decorous political campaign."

The campaign was successful, and the Dartmouth College decision made it impossible for a State to repeal or alter a charter given to a corporation which was obtained EVEN BY BRIBERY AND EVERY FORM OF CORRUPTION.

The whole world knows that Root is no Webster; but the forces behind Root are far, far more powerful and better organized than the forces behind Webster.

He speaks apparently only for the liquor interests. But "The voice is the voice of Jacob, but the hand is the hand of Esau."

The entire army of special privilege is behind this mouthpiece of the exploiters.

Will the Supreme Court remember the Dred Scott decision in which the slave power used the court in a vain attempt to protect private property in human beings and thus hastened the Civil War to repudiate that decision?

Will the court remember how the country received that decision?

Will it recall how Webster sounded his own political death knell?

Will the court recall how Whittier marked the great downfall in the lines of "Ichabod?"

"So fallen! so lost! the light withdrawn
Which once he wore!
The glory from his gray hairs gone
For evermore!

"Of all we loved and honored naught
Save power remains—
A fallen angel's power of thought,
Still strong in chains.

"All else is gone; from those great eyes
The soul has fled;
When faith is lost, when honor dies,
The man is dead.

"Then pay the reverence of old days
To his dead fame;
Walk backward with averted gaze
And hide the shame!"

Who knows?

Will the court realize that such a revolutionary decision as they are asked to make must lead to counter revolution, and, if the counter revolution is resisted, to civil war?

The slave power could not realize that an advancing civilization had changed the world's conception of the rights of private property and had repudiated the idea that property rights were so superior to human rights that there could be private property in human beings.

Worse still, the slave power would not realize that no court on earth could long hold the American people behind the moral advance of the rest of the world.

Our privileged class does not now realize that the civilized world has advanced far beyond their conception of the relations of human and property rights.

This decision is sought in order to put certain property rights beyond the control of the people.

We may tear our young men away from their friends and families and send them by the million into dreadful wars, and there on the battlefields we can confiscate their legs, their arms, their eyes, their health and their very life by the tens of thousands.

All this our people may do in their wisdom.

But these reactionary revolutionists would not let us lay a hand or a finger on PROPERTY.

Every country in Europe has repudiated this absurd and insulting distinction.

The world outside of America has advanced farther beyond this conception of the relations of property and human rights than it had advanced outside of America, when the Dred Scott case was decided, beyond the moral level at which property in human beings was tolerable.

Will the Supreme Court realize all this and reject the flattery which would picture them as the bulwarks of their class privileges?

The Steel Trust case, the stock dividend case and the interpretation of the gag laws shows an alarming disposition on the part of at least four of the nine judges.

But if they give us another Dred Scott decision we must repudiate it promptly if we would spare the country an overwhelming disaster, for those who are planning the reactionary revolution realize its outrageous, immoral character, and they will pause to see how we take it.

Congress should be prepared, therefore, to deal promptly and finally with the Supreme Court, as it dealt with the same court just after the Civil War in the McArdle case. The people should stand ready to insist upon such a settlement of the court's activities as will make our courts as innocuous to bring on a political crisis as courts are everywhere else in the world.

Kill the Loan Shark Bill and Protect the Poor

The Massachusetts Legislature should kill the Loan Shark Bill which permits a charge of 5 per cent. a month, or 60 per cent. a year, on unsecured loans of $50 or less.

Four years ago, this traffic was exposed by the Boston American. With the aid of self-respecting citizens and philanthropic organizations, a bill was put through the Legislature at that time curbing the outrageous gang that fed upon the poor and the unfortunate. Interest was then set at 3 per cent. per month, certainly a high enough rate of profit for even the most rapacious.

At that time, there were 2,000 employes in the State and city government who were in the hands of these money lenders. There were thousands of poor ministers, teachers, governesses and workingmen and women who were being bled and crushed by the extortions of the sharks. The law that was then passed did something to ameliorate that condition. The Boston American had gone even further. For some time prior to the passage of the law it refused to print the advertising of the gentry who were living upon the sufferings of the poor. No loan shark could gain new victims through the columns of this paper.

And now they come again. By devious methods they have advanced the bill whereby they hope to get 60 per cent. a year on their money.

It is amazing that the gentlemen of the Legislature who have voted for this bill should have done so. Surely, they could not have understood the full intent and purpose of the measure for which they voted. Do not the Senators and members of the Legislature know that there is scarcely a business house, a factory or a poor home that does not pay blood tribute to the loan sharks? If they are in doubt, the Boston American will furnish them with clear, convincing information.

When a man or a woman is so poor, so destitute, so friendless that he or she is compelled to go to a loan shark for $50, that unfortunate should be protected by the Legislature of Massachusetts instead of exploited for the benefit of a few rapacious, infamous dealers in human sufferings. The Boston American cannot believe that the new loan shark bill will be enacted into a law. It believes that on sober consideration the members of the Legislature will kill this bill and save the Governor of this State the trouble of vetoing it.
